THE DAY IN CONGRESS

Consideration in the Senate of the Naval Bill.

PROTECTION FOR OUR INTERESTS.

The Injunction of Secresy Removed From the Extradition Treaty.

A CONTESTED ELECTION CASE.

The Scott Exclusion Law To Be Opposed Vigorously in a Test Case—The Salmon Streams of Alaska—Etc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the senate Dawes presented a petition from 120 Indian students at Hampton, Va., against the continuance of the ration system to Indians as an encouragement to idleness, and recommending their equivalent in farming implements and stock. Referred to the committee on appropriations.

Sherman said he had been instructed by the committee on foreign relations to move an executive session. The motion was agreed to and the senate proceeded to executive business.

The doors were opened at 3:15 and legislative business was proceeded with.

Frye having been called away by death in his family, the Union Pacific funding bill was laid aside and the naval appropriation bill was taken up.

An amendment was reported by the committee on appropriations for the construction of two steel cruisers, or gunboats, of 800 to 1200 tons displacement, to cost, in the aggregate (exclusive of armament) not more than $700,000; of one steel cruiser, of about 2000 tons, at a cost of not more than $700,000, and one ram for harbor defense. Agreed to without discussion. This is in addition to the provisions of the bill, as it came from the house.

Under the heading, "Increase of the Navy," Chandler moved to strike out of the paragraph for the construction of one armored steel cruising monitor, the words "of the type," and "to be constructed according to plans and specifications to be furnished to the navy department by Hon. John R. Thomas, of Illinois, to be approved by the secretary of the navy." He characterized as an anomaly in legislation, and almost as ludicrous, the provision that a vessel of such size and to cost $1,500,000, should be constructed after a type, and upon plans and specifications, to be furnished by a member of congress. The present secretary of the navy had the disposal of $28,000,000 for the increase of the navy, unfettered by any conditions. But this bill contained a provision that Mr. Thomas, a lawyer, not a designer of ships, should furnish the next secretary of the navy one, and that the Pneumatic Gun Company should furnish him with another. He had been uniformly against that kind of legislation, where inventors and designers besiege the doors of the committee rooms, and resorted to all sorts of log rolling in order to get special enactments favorable to them. The whole thing was a broad farce.

Cullom opposed the amendment, and read several letters from high naval officers, endorsing and commending Thomas's plans and specifications.

Chandler said that he had merely desired to call the attention of the senate to the manifest impropriety of tying up the hands of the secretary of the navy, as proposed. Not only was it vicious to put Thomas into the bill, but if his plans and specifications were not approved by the secretary of the navy, the construction of the ship must stop.

Cullom said that Thomas had been a member of the house for a good many years, and a member of the naval committee. In that position he had given close attention to the subject of ships of war. It had turned out that Thomas's information, study and investigation had resulted in his gathering up a plan for a cruiser, and that the navy department, "after appointing a board for the purpose, had adopted and approved his plan."

Without disposing of the amendment, the senate adjourned.

TO PROTECT OUR INTERESTS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—In the secret session there was passed the following bill: "Be it enacted, etc., That there be and is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $250,000, to enable the president to protect the interests of the United States, and provide for the security of persons and property of citizens of the United States at the Isthmus of Panama, in such manner as he may deem expedient."

The committee on foreign relations had received no news of any outbreak at Panama, but, deeming it best to be prepared for any that might occur, decided to ask for the passage of the bill at once as an independent measure, rather than to risk delays and uncertainties attending amendment to an appropriation bill. The troubles that are feared are such as are incident to the discharge, in a body, of laborers whose means of gaining their livelihood are thereby cut off; and who, in their desperation and distress, may resort to violence and bloodshed. It is understood that it had been deemed wise by the authorities of the United States, Great Britain and other nations having a large number of their citizens employed on the Panama canal, to arrange for bringing them home, in case of a wholesale discharge, and not to suffer them to remain on the isthmus in destitution and want. To provide for this the amount of the appropriation was increased from $100,000 to $250,000. There was but slight opposition to the passage of the bill.

INJUNCTION OF SECRECY REMOVED.

After a number of appointments, favorably reported by committees, had been confirmed, the question of removing the injunction of secrecy from the proceedings in connection with the consideration of the British extradition treaty was taken up. To this there was considerable opposition. The motion finally prevailed and to-morrow a record of the proceedings, covering a period of two or three years, will be furnished to the press.

APPOINTMENTS CONFIRMED.

The senate confirmed a number of army and other appointments this afternoon. Among them were Joseph C. Breckenridge to be inspector general, and Thomas J. Anderson, of Iowa, to be associate justice of the supreme court of Utah.

The senate also confirmed the following appointments: Lieutenant-Colonel William A. Rucker, assistant paymaster general, with the rank of colonel; Major Charles M. Terrill, deputy paymaster general, with the rank of lieutenant colonel; E. P. Johnson, of Utah, judge of probate for Box Elder county; Joseph D. Jones, of Utah, judge of probate for Utah county, Utah.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Consideration of the Smalls-Elliott Contested Election Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—After some sparring as to the precedence in the matter of consideration on behalf of several bills, Crisp, of Georgia, as a question of the highest privilege, called up the Smalls-Elliott contested election case, and the house, by a vote of 131 to 89, decided to consider it. Twenty-four democrats, including Thompson, of California, voted with the republicans in the affirmative.

Crisp then took the floor for the presentation of the case. The committee had considered it, he said, in the light of established law. He proceeded to review the evidence in the case, and entered upon an argument tending to disprove several material claims of the contestant. He then referred to the convictions of Smalls for accepting a bribe while state senator, and contended that that conviction had injured him with the colored people.

Dalzell inquired what relevancy that had to the question of how many votes Smalls had received at the late election.

Crisp replied that the gentleman on the republican side assumed, because there was a colored majority in the district, the majority would vote for a colored man. He proposed to show that among colored people of the district there were some good men who rebelled against being dictated to and required to vote for a man who had been convicted of a high crime. He quoted evidence to show that many colored republicans were opposed to Smalls on account of the manner in which he had been nominated and on account of his character. He admitted that the negro politicians were republicans, but declared that the great mass of negroes were not politicians in South Carolina. A good many wrongful and violent acts had been committed by the republicans, when they had the ascendancy, and this had resulted in the division of the negro ranks and the formation of a colored democratic club. The colored democrats had been ostracized, intimidated and overawed by the colored republicans, and the contestant, Smalls, had taken a leading part in this action. The day was past when colored people would go up in a body, like senseless machines, to record their votes, as they were told to do, by people who lived away from them and had not their interests at heart. The day had come when they were satisfied with the people among whom they lived, the people who were friends, and the people to whom they had always appealed in distress.

Rowell of Illinois, said that the gentleman from Georgia had spent much time in proving Smalls guilty of bribery, while a member of the state legislature, a proposition which had no more bearing on this case than the question of whether the moon was inhabited. It had been brought in like the bulldozing question, for the purpose of justifying the vote to keep a man out of a seat to which he was elected. The laws of South Carolina were framed for the express purpose of disfranchising the republican voters of that state. Under those laws, there has been a systematic effort to deny to colored voters the right to register, and to change their registration certificates. The gentleman from Georgia had spoken about the intimidation of colored democrats by republicans of the same race. The governor of South Carolina had recently announced the paramount question in South Carolina to be the maintenance of the Anglo-Saxon control. The paramount question was not that the majority should rule, or that every legal voter might have his vote cast and counted, but to maintain and preserve the Anglo-Saxon control. That was one patent fact, in response to the talk of intimidation. Elliott held his seat on this floor, not by reason of election by the people, but by reason of the election held by the returning board of South Carolina. The majority of the committee had gone further than the returning board, and had thrown out two precincts which had run the gauntlet of both the district and state returning boards.

Rowell ridiculed the charge of intimidation, upon which the majority of the committee relied to throw out certain returns, and cited several instances to prove the existence of what he termed the "lawless spirit" which prevailed in certain districts. Pending further debate the matter went over until Monday. Adjourned.

THE SCOTT EXCLUSION LAW.

Vigorous Opposition Promised in the Test Case Soon To Be Tried.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The attack on the Scott exclusion law before the United States supreme court, promises to be a vigorous one. The defense will be weak for a number of reasons. The attorney general has the case in charge. Garland retires on March 3d, and his successor will probably come in the next day. The case comes up in the supreme court on March 13, and the attorney general's successor will not have time to prepare the case adequately. The first ten days of his service, crowded as they will be, with office-seekers, cabinet meetings an innumerable other things, will not afford him the opportunity to examine thoroughly the merits of the case at issue. It is probable that some clerk in the department will prepare the case for the United States, and that some assistant attorney general will make the argument.

It is expected that Senator Stewart and the California congressmen, who are lawyers, will appear to assist the government. They all have consented to do what they can, but this is the busiest period of their terms. It may be accepted that, however willing the California congressmen may be to appear in defense of the Scott law, they will have little, or no time to prepare.

On the other hand, the Chinese will be most ably represented. Ex-Governor Hoadley, of Ohio, is one of the ablest lawyers in his state. He will be assisted by eminent council. Everything that can be said to destroy the purpose of the Scott bill will be strongly and ably said.

NORTHWESTERN INTERESTS.

The Salmon Streams of Alaska—Bills Reported by Mitchell.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Senator Mitchell reported favorably from the house committee on post offices and post roads the bill to punish dealers and pretended dealers in counterfeit money, and other devices, for using the United States mails.

He also submitted an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $30,000, additional for a lighthouse on the Umpqua river.

THE SALMON STREAMS OF ALASKA.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A majority of the streams in Southeastern Alaska are shallow, and rise in small lakes, and damming prevents salmon from returning from the sea to their spawning ground. As it is now, fish come up the rivers and are killed by thousands. Fish Commissioner McDonald has been requested to recommend such legislation as may be necessary to prevent the impairment or destruction of these valuable fisheries. Congressman Dunn has now reported a bill from the committee on marine and fisheries, recommending, among other things, that the damming of streams in Alaska be prohibited.

SPECIAL APPROPRIATION BILLS

Introduced by Senator Stanford for the Benefit of the Coast.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Senator Stanford to-day proposed an amendment to the army appropriation bill, authorizing the secretary of war to purchase four fifteen-inch pneumatic guns, with the necessary apparatus for firing and carriage, to be located in San Francisco harbor. The bill was accompanied by a letter from Secretary Endicott, approving the same, and also an amendment to the sundry civil bill, authorizing the expenditure of $38,000 on the national cemetery on the reservation of the Presidio, at San Francisco, and in improving roadways, etc.

He also introduced a bill appropriating $35,000 to pay James I. Sherley, of Idaho, and the estate of the late Francis DeLong, of California, the amounts found to be due them on old mail contracts by the court of pleas; also a bill appropriating $5000 to establish a lighthouse at the entrance to San Pedro harbor, California.

GRATEFUL BOSTONIANS.

They Will Present the New Cruiser With a Stand of Colors in Honor of Its Name.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The navy department was informed to-day that the city council of Boston have decided to present the new cruiser Boston with a handsome stand of colors, in honor of its name. As Baltimore presented the cruiser Baltimore with a fine library, and Chicago her namesake with an elegant silver service, all of the vessels but the Birmington and Yorktown have been remembered.

Take the Northern Pacific Railroad, the dining-car route for all points East. Office, No. 2 Washington street.

THE VETO PREVAILS.

Pure Water Beaten by a Vote of 37 to 22.

RECONSIDERATION NOT PROBABLE.

Deep Interest Shown in the Speeches for and Against the Bill.

LET EVERYBODY BUY A FILTER,

For the Indications Are That We Shall Have to Drink Willamette Water for Two More Years—Talk With the Governor.

SALEM, Feb. 11.—The Bull Run water bill failed to pass the house over the governor's veto this afternoon, and that individual is much elated thereat. The democrats voted solidly to sustain the views of their pet executive, and there was a sufficient number of republican wiseacres to help them do it. At 1:30 o'clock, the democrats were called into caucus, and every man was pledged, by the rules of the caucus, to vote with the governor. This lost the supporters of the bill two votes, Messrs. Gambee and Moss. The other principal and fatal defection was that of two members of the Marion county delegation, Geer and Armstrong, whose change of heart is due, either directly, or indirectly, to the influence of Judge Boise and his granger contingent, which has taken unusual interest in the defeat of this bill.

The democrats made it a political measure, but their republican minority was too blind to see or care about this, and obeyed the behests of the democratic caucus.

The bill is irrevocably beaten, as no person who favored it voted in the negative, and there is no chance for its reconsideration. Only one man, Belknap, of Benton county, shirked the responsibility of voting, and he absented himself before the vote was taken.

At the hour of 3 o'clock Speaker Smith interrupted the regular order of the third reading of house bills and announced the special order of the Carson senate bill, vetoed by the governor, better known as the Bull Run water bill. The clerk read the bill from beginning to end, and also the remarkable reasoning of the governor's veto message.

The lobby and galleries of the house were packed with spectators, nearly 200 ladies being among them. The wives of many of the members were also present, and occupied seats at their desks.

"Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the governor's veto?" asked Speaker Smith.

Geer, of Marion, at once obtained the floor, and began a speech, ostensibly to show why he changed his views since his previous vote on the same bill. He said:

> "When this bill was up before, I voted for it. I now give notice to the house that I will vote against it, unless it be shown to me that the bonds are municipal property. That is the stumbling block, to me. I ask those who are in favor of this bill to show to us in what sense the bonds are municipal property."

Gilbert, of Multnomah, was ready to reply:

> I suppose the gentleman means how, under the constitution, can these bonds be taxed. I think the principal opposition to this bill arises from a failure to read carefully the language of the constitution. I will ask the gentlemen to follow me while I read it. Now, Mr. Speaker, I do not claim that bonds are municipal property, but that they are property which may be exempted for municipal purposes. For one, to me it seems they are not property, but granting they are, they come within the strict letter of this statute. In this state it has been held that credits are property, and in my argument I shall treat them as such, and I think I shall be able to prove to these gentlemen that they may be exempted from taxation for municipal purposes.

He then quoted various authorities in other states in support of his argument, and continued:

> The governor's question, how can there be equality of taxation when a man puts all his money in bonds that are not taxed, is easily answered by asking another: When one man holds $10,000 in government bonds and another $10,000 in real property, how can there be equality of taxation, when federal bonds are not taxed? We could take this million and a half of dollars from the people of Portland by direct tax, and no one would question our right, but we do not propose to do that. We propose to borrow it. Do we take any taxable property out of the state? Does it not induce laborers to come into the city? Does it not encourage business and make a market for your farm products? The money is not put into the ground, but into circulation among the people. It will be spent among you; it will buy property that will be taxed. The opposition, I believe, comes from a misunderstanding. I hear on every hand that "This is a private corporation," or "This is a bill to benefit rich bankers." It will benefit the poor man just as much as the rich banker. If the bonds can be sold free from tax, they will bring a premium. If not, they will sell below par. The citizens of Portland must pay the difference, and your state of Oregon will not get one dollar benefit by doing this, that I can see. The men most interested are those who pay 75 cents for water where they used to pay $1 50.

The speaker then read a dispatch from Captain John O'Brien, president of the Federated Trades of Portland, urging the passage of the bill.

> These are the men who want this law. Is it to be defeated by a governor who one day defies the laws and the next day glorifies them.

Geer again spoke:

> The question with me is whether it is right or a matter of public policy. I hold not all things are right that are granted by the constitution.

Gilbert continued:

> We simply ask that you let us use our credit for all it is worth and get this one and a half millions abroad, and add it to the property of the state.

Paulsen said:

> I have failed to see any argument advanced which can cause me to change my views.

Derby of Yamhill also made quite a long speech, for him, in opposition to the bill. Among other things equally wise he said:

> A man may put all his money into untaxed bonds, and when the assessor comes around he can snap his fingers at him. Then he can sell his bonds to his neighbor, before the assessor can get around to him, and he escapes taxation. And so it goes on from Dan to Beersheba, and everybody escapes taxation.

Jennings made his customary speech in opposition.

Northup said:

> Portland wants nothing illegal, unjust or unfair, and does not desire that Benton, Linn or Lane should do us injustice. We ask that aid at your hands which the law puts it into your power to give. She asks you to do what you have a right to do. There are only two questions: First—Can this bill pass constitutionally? Second—Is it expedient? The first question, I think, is answered in the Fourteenth Oregon supreme court reports, in the case of David vs. the Portland water committee. In 1885 an act passed permitting the issuance of bonds, and exempting them from taxation. The bill before us to-day has the same provisions. Has it found disfavor anywhere in this state? The law has been upon the statute books nearly four years, and has received the silent approbation of the people of the state. The old water company well knew that if the bill was declared constitutional their property would have to be sold to the city. The best legal talent was employed on both sides. The point of constitutionality was not raised. Yet, if any part could have been declared unconstitutional, the whole act would have fallen to the ground.
>
> "One word for the governor. While I do respect his pluck, I condemn his judgment. He was educated for the law, but found more pleasure in running a sawmill. Your governor is to execute your laws, and the supreme court to decide whether they are unconstitutional.
>
> "Second, is it expedient to tax these bonds? It is a necessity for the people of Portland. As you build up your beautiful cities, establish sewers, etc., you make it impossible for us to use the water of the Willamette river. When these water works are built, we shall have added more than one and one-half millions to the taxable property of the state. I hope the veto will be voted down by a majority so great that we shall hear nothing more of it from this source."

Geer spoke again, seeming never to tire of ringing changes on what he at first said.

Miller of Jackson also made a long speech.

Fisher of Polk, in explaining why he should vote to sustain the governor's veto, showed that to him belongs the honor of having discovered the greatest mare's nest of any of them. He said:

> I think the municipal bond system is to take the place of government bonds, and continue to exempt the capital of the rich from taxation. In a few years government bonds will become due, and cease to exist, and I think this system of municipal bonds now springing up, is intended to take the place of the non-taxable government bonds, under the burden of which the people have long suffered.

Armstrong said great pressure had been brought to bear upon him and caused him to change his vote.

Condon explained that pressure had also been brought to bear upon him, but he had not yielded to it, because he believed he was in the right.

The question was then called for, and the vote taken resulted as follows:

ABSENT.

Belknap—1.

The Multnomah senators and representatives feel that they have done all they could to secure for the 50,000 people of Portland pure and wholesome water, and seem determined to let the responsibility rest on the shoulders of him who vetoed the bill. Senators Carson and Steel expressed such an opinion to THE OREGONIAN reporter to-night, and added that they thought such was the sentiment of the rest of the members. They all feel that they can return to Portland and tell the 70,000 people of that city and its big suburbs that they have done their duty. It has been suggested that they draw up another bill, making bonds taxable, but as this course would require the water consumers of the city to make up a deficit of nearly $300,000 in the sale of the bonds, they deem it not advisable to impose such an enormous burden on the people.

Governor Pennoyer, in reply to a question to-night whether he had any idea that the veto would be sustained in the house replied that he had paid no attention to the course of events.

> "I never spoke to a single man to influence his vote, one way or the other. I have absolutely abstained from doing such a thing," he said. "It has been a painful matter to me to oppose, as I have, the wishes of a great majority of the people of Portland. If I had not done so, believing as I do that the bonds should be taxed, I should not have respect for myself, and I care more for the respect of myself than for the opinion of the people of Portland."

"The Multnomah delegation claims that you are entirely responsible for keeping Bull Run water from the people of Portland. What do you say to that?" was asked:

> "It does not throw the responsibility upon my shoulders, but on their own. If they want to they can introduce a bill without the non-taxation clause, and have it passed in both houses in short order. Their indisposition to do so shows that the water commission cared more to get the bonds free from taxation than to introduce Bull Run water into Portland. If they intend to wait two years to get the bonds exempt from taxation, they will wait in vain, for no legislature will ever exempt their bonds again."

The senate this afternoon passed four house bills, appropriating all told $30,000, to build wagon roads in various parts of the state. Coos and Curry counties got $26,000 of this amount.

When Roberts's bill, providing for the construction of a road on the middle fork of the Coquille river in Coos and Douglas counties, came up, Veatch, who had been trying to establish the unconstitutionality of all road bills, said:

> I ask the senate, out of respect to my feelings, not to pass this bill. [Laughter.] It is not nice medicine to take. After I have had one dose today another is too much. [Laughter.] These bills are clearly unconstitutional. They are wrong in principle, ruinous in theory and damnable in practice. The legislature has been acting very recklessly in making appropriations for roads. I know it is folly for me to say anything. If I should stand here and talk a week, the vote would be just the same.

Chamberlin said he voted for Crook's bill to build a road from Chetco to Port Orford because he knew it was meritorious, and though he believed in developing the country, he thought too much money was being expended in one place (Coos and Curry counties).

The senators seemed to think it not advisable to change Veatch's dose of medicine, the vote standing 22 to 8.

When Representative Maxwell's bill appropriating $11,000 for a wagon road from the Nehalem river to the Fuqua toll road, Tillamook county, came up, Chamberlin asked for information.

"The senate is now in a mood for the passage of those bills," said the chair in response. [Laughter.]

Watts, who had been voting against the road bills, seemed to find some merit in Maxwell's bill. "We might as well turn loose and make a great state," he said, "and count Tillamook in with the rest." [Laughter.]

"I am inclined to think there is some merit in this bill," said Veatch.

No one thought for a moment that Veatch would find merit in anything constitutionally wrong, so everybody smiled at his sally. He went on to say, to the amusement of all, that he understood that the people of Tillamook raised no end of clams, and owing to the bad roads were unable to get them to market in good condition.

"Will the senator vote for the bill?" asked President Simon.

"We'll see when my name is called," answered Veatch, amid laughter. He voted no, as usual.

Road bills appropriating $77,000 have passed both houses, and Senator Cogswell's bill asking for $15,000 more is still pending in the house.

The committee on commerce held a meeting at 7:30 this evening, at which was read a dispatch from the Board of Trade, guaranteeing to maintain a pilot boat and a pilotage and towage service at the mouth of the Columbia for two years. This satisfied all scruples of the members of the committee, and it will report in the morning Northup's bill, with amendments as agreed upon with the Board of Trade representatives last Friday.

The Multnomah representative delegation met to-night and finished the sectional revision of the Portland, East Portland and Albina consolidation bill, and will probably report in the house to-morrow morning, as the delegation has the privilege to report at any time Thompson offered the amendments which he attempted to have incorporated in the Bull Run water bill. They were adopted and will be included in the report of the delegation As the bill is on its third reading in both houses it is hoped by its friends to secure its passage this week

Condon's bill to give additional aid to the State university was the first order of business in the house this afternoon and had a large audience composed of those who were waiting to see the battle of Bull Run Considerable opposition to it was developed, but it passed the house by a vote of 32 to [illegible] Following is the full text of the bill

Be it Enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon

SECTION 1 That section 1 of an act entitled "An act to aid in the support of the University of Oregon" approved October 17 1882, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Sec 1—That there is hereby levied an annual tax of one-seventh of one mill on the dollar upon all the taxable property within this state for university purposes to be levied and collected as other taxes are levied and collected and the fund arising therefrom shall be paid into the state treasury and kept separate from other funds, and shall be known as the university fund

Sec 2.—That section 2 of said act be amended to read as follows

Sec. 2—That the funds arising from said tax or so much thereof as may be necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated annually for the support and maintenance of the University of Oregon and to keep the building, grounds and other property thereof in repair and make needed improvements thereto and that from and after the 1st day of January, 1890, no charge or fee whatever shall be made or collected from any person or persons residents of this state who possess the necessary qualifications to enter said university for tuition in any of the literary departments thereof provided, a sum not to exceed $10 a year may be collected from each student for incidental expenses.

Sec 3—That section 3 of said act be amended to read as follows

Sec. 3—That the money in this act appropriated shall be drawn quarterly by the regents of said university for its purpose of paying any deficiency that may exist in the payment of any of the items for which the same is appropriated which deficiency shall be certified to the secretary of state by the executive committee of said regents.

Sec. 4—That section 4 of said act to aid in the support of the University of Oregon be and the same is hereby repealed

The senate held its first evening session to-night but did nothing of importance except to pass Dawson's bill increasing the number of railroad commissioners to three and raising their salaries to $2500 a year and that of the clerk to $2000

The railroad committee reported favorably on the Dawson bill and Gray's bill to authorize the Astoria & South Coast Railway Company to build a bridge across Young's bay and Skipanon creek Clatsop county

Wager offered an amendment to Dawson's bill to have only one commissioner instead of three receive a salary of $3000 annually with no allowance for clerk hire He thought the state could not afford to pay three commissioners and that one could do the work as well as three

Steel said if the amendment prevailed it would nullify the law and render the commission ineffective

The amendment was voted down

Veatch offered an amendment to the clause which provides that [illegible] two commissioners shall belong to the same political party He made a regular to-the-victors-belong-the-spoils speech which Chandler supported Veatch said he had examined the bill and found that all it contained was salary He paid a high compliment to the commissioners

Carson Raley and Cogswell spoke against the amendment

The amendment was voted down, after which Irvine submitted another investing the commission with power to fix maximum freight rates and fares on all roads in the state

Sinclair thought the proposition arbitrary and that it gave three men too much power

Carson understood that the reduction on the O R & N lines under the commission during 1887 was $165 000 and it was estimated that a similar reduction would be made last year making the total reduction for two years $330 000 He suggested that Irvine withdraw his amendment but the latter refused to saying that otherwise the commission would be powerless

Tongue favored the bill believing it the best to be had under the circumstances, and thought the commission two years hence, would be able to recommend necessary legislation

Irvine's amendment was voted down like the others

Wager could see no reason why there should be three commissioners and a large increase of their salaries If this commission has done all that has been claimed for it, why is it turned out of office and new men re elected?

The bill was then passed—Ayes 27, nays 3, and the senate adjourned

The committee on education offered a meritorious bill in the senate this afternoon It relates to the disposition of the regular 5-mill school tax and the irreducible school fund prohibiting their use for any purpose other than for the payment of the salaries of teachers and the purchase of apparatus necessary for schools. The money can not be used to build schools or the purchase of a site Many districts accumulate a surplus and loan out the money The bill if it becomes a law will stop the practice

Senator Fullerton's supreme court bill was this afternoon made a special order of business for 10 30 A M to morrow

The senate began holding night sessions to night and will probably continue them until the close of the session

A number of house bills were sent to the senate this afternoon and will be taken up in due time.

Failure at Tacoma Murderous Quarrel Near Eugene General Court-martial at Walla Walla Railroad Extension

TACOMA W T Feb 11 About 5 o'clock this afternoon Attorney Wampler was standing at the corner of the new opera house talking to some friends While so doing H C Parkhurst managing editor of the Ledger and formerly of the Oregon Siftings Portland passed by Parkhurst has been criticising Wampler in the columns of the Ledger invariably calling him "Webber" As Parkhurst passed Wampler said to a friend "Do you see that thing going by there?"

Parkhurst turned round and confronted Wampler asking if he was speaking to him

Wampler said "I was not addressing you sir"

"Were you speaking about me?"

"I was sir"

Parkhurst came straight up and tried to strike Wampler who warded off the blow at the same time striking Parkhurst with his open hand Parkhurst went down While down he picked up a stone and came again for Wampler who stopped his hand before the stone left it and again knocked him down

Parkhurst came up for a third round trying to get out a revolver held in a belt used instead of suspenders and again went down with a backhander

In the fourth and fifth rounds Parkhurst again came up still only to measure his length in the dust before he could get out his revolver

As Parkhurst went down for the fifth time Wampler lifted his boot and kicked him over the left eye inflicting a severe gash and then said to the crowd "If some one doesn't take that man away there will be trouble"

Some bystanders then laid hands on Parkhurst and led him to the Ledger office, which is close by the scene of the fight

Wampler has been acting as attorney for Harry Morgan during the recent suits and on that account was attacked by Parkhurst

TWO UNIQUE ELECTIONS

One in Ogden, Utah, and the Other in Nevada.

A VICTORY FOR THE GENTILES

The Nevada People Vote on a Proposed Constitutional Amendment to Legalize a Lottery The Result in Doubt

OGDEN Utah Feb 11 The most important election that has ever taken place in Utah took place to day It was a fight by the Gentiles or liberal party for a foothold in the territory by the election of a mayor and council The new city hall was crowded at all the entrances where the election precincts held their ballot boxes The city voted as a whole and not by wards and to accommodate the large number of voters four voting places were necessary

The Mormons or peoples party now have the offices of the city and all night brass bands and a drum corps were promenading the streets

With the beginning of the voting a system of intimidation commenced on the part of the Mormons by arresting the Gentiles before they had a chance to vote and hurrying them off to jail This was anticipated by the opposite party who had Marshal Dyer present and a squad of United States troops quartered in the Broom hotel across the street The marshal at once stopped the arrests until the voters had had a chance to tender their votes and be passed upon by the judges

After this the election passed off quietly The result cannot be determined before midnight

A SIGNAL VICTORY FOR THE GENTILES

The result of to day's election is a complete victory for the liberal candidate for mayor who is elected by a majority of 440 The balance of the ticket including the full city council and chief of police had about the same majority The Gentiles are jubilant over the result

TO LEGALIZE LOTTERIES

The People of Nevada Vote on a Constitutional Amendment

VIRGINIA Nev Feb 11 —A special state election called by the legislature to vote on an amendment to the constitution authorizing a state lottery similar to the Louisiana lottery scheme was hotly contested here to day

The Savage and Hale & Norcross miners were given a holiday as a controlling interest in those properties is reported heavily interested in the scheme It is reported that several millionaires have been putting up coin to carry this county by a large majority to overcome the vote against it of the sparsely populated counties in the eastern part of the state a majority of the voters in which are represented as being opposed to it

It is estimated that two thirds of the total vote of this county was polled and the majority in favor of the lottery amendment is placed at 800 whereas the promoters of the scheme expected about 1500 majority

There is a rumor lacking confirmation that Senator Jones telegraphed from Washington to his friends to defeat the bill and in the event of its being carried he would resign his seat in the senate

The pro lottery advocates claim to have carried the day at local headquarters but nothing definite will be obtainable until the vote is counted which will take until to morrow

The Enterprise of Storey county Reno Journal and Gazette of Washoe Carson Appeal of Ormsby and Silver State of Humboldt favored the lottery bill Evening Chronicle of Storey remained neutral The Carson Tribune of Ormsby was independent The Elko Sentinel and Eureka News of Esmeralda and the Reveille of Lander all strenuously opposed it

A strong card of the lottery promoters was the statement that the object of the project is to establish a home for disabled miners by putting aside a certain percentage of the profits This statement miners are familiar with and consider the character of the promoters a reflection on their intelligence

THE CONTEST UNABATED

Governor Church and the Dakota Legislature at Swords' Points

BISMARCK Dak Feb 11 —The war between Governor Church and the legislature is still on There were several measures proposed by the different members as a means of defeating the governor by securing his immediate dismissal from his position, but the leaders of the house considered them not to be feasible just now However a resolution was adopted unanimously which will have the effect of cutting off one way the governor had to return the fire of the legislature This resolution declares that no communication foreign to the business of the legislature and the territory shall be read to the house and the speaker and clerk are made sole judges of what reports shall be received,

The avowed purpose of this resolution is to prevent the governor from making another such attack as on Saturday when he "went for" the legislature His feeling in the matter grows more bitter all the time and there is once more some strong talk of an adjournment until the successor to Governor Church shall be appointed

This action had about been given up until the recent engagement, and now the republicans in the house and council are willing to do almost anything to defeat Governor Church

ANNEXATION OF CANADA

Scheme of Sir John Macdonald to Defeat the Movement

QUEBEC Feb 11 —That wily old fox Sir John Macdonald, has a scheme to beat the annexation Knowing that if he waits for the regular election in 1892 the progress of the annexation sentiment will overwhelm him he has decided to appeal to the country at once on this question, knowing that he can secure an easy victory under cover of which he will retire from the government with flying colors, and with the annexation party bandaging a very black eye To furnish the excuse for this one of his adherents will demand of the Liberal Quebec government to know what it proposes to do about the Ben Butterworth annexation resolution in the United States congress

THE CHIRICAHUA APACHES.

A Memorial to be Presented to Congress by the People of New Mexico.

A J Fountain speaker of the house of representatives to-day introduced a memorial to that body, which unanimously passed both houses The memorial is addressed to the president of the United States and congress protesting against the proposed removal of Geronimo and his band of hostile Chiricahua Apaches from their present place of confinement in Florida and locating them on the Mescalero Apache reservation in Southern New Mexico

The memorial represents that the Mescalero Apaches are now peacefully disposed and friendly to the whites that they are not and never have been friendly to Geronimo, or his band, and that the location of the Chiricahuas upon their reservation will be the means of causing another outbreak, similar to the one in 1885, which resulted in the death of many innocent settlers and great expense to the territory to suppress For this and several other reasons, it is asked that none of this band be located within the territory

THE CRIME OF A FIEND.

A Probability That "Jack the Ripper" Has Been Caught.

THIS VICTIM WAS HIS WIFE.

The Crime Was Committed in Scotland, But the Murderer Admits That He Comes From Whitechapel—Shocking Mutilation

LONDON Feb 11 —The body of a woman in a chest was discovered by the police of Dundee Her abdomen was ripped and she was otherwise mutilated The chest is so small that the murderer had been compelled to squeeze the body into it The husband of the woman was arrested

PROBABLY JACK THE RIPPER.

A dispatch from Dundee says "The murderer of the woman whose mutilated remains were found in a chest there to day is W H. Bury husband of the victim Bury was a resident of Whitechapel London and his antecedents which have been traced suggest that he is probably "Jack the Ripper," and that he is subject to fits of unconscious murder mania

A post mortem examination held on the body of the Dundee victim which proved that the woman had first been strangled and her body then mutilated the abdomen being opened and the legs and arms twisted and broken

Bury says he left Whitechapel three weeks ago. He refuses to say why he left there, and acknowledges that he had no business requiring his attention at Dundee. He says he and his wife drank heavily last night before retiring, and that he does not know how he got to bed. Upon awakening, he says he found his wife lying upon the floor with a rope around her neck Actuated by a sudden mad impulse for which he cannot account he seized a knife and slashed the body Upon reason returning he became alarmed and hastily crushed the body into a chest, in which it was found thinking to fly and make his escape He found, however that he could not leave his wife's remains and finally resolved to inform the police

The theory of the police officials is that Bury's wife knew of facts connecting him with the Whitechapel atrocities and that she took him to Dundee in hope of preventing a recurrence of the crimes

"AMERICA IS GOING TO SEED"

Cardinal Manning Thinks the Sunday Newspaper is a Thing of Evil

LONDON Feb 11 —Cardinal Manning says: I recognize in America a decided tendency to, as I call it, go to seed I fear that in America freedom of divorce has done much to break up domestic life and it certainly requires but slight observation to see that in the observance of Sunday you have already drifted far, far away from the usage of your forefathers I fear America morally is going to seed and her Sunday newspapers must have had something to do with it.

In the Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS Feb 11 Boulanger was present in the chamber of deputies to-day The chamber voted urgency for debate on the scrutin d'arrondissement bill by a vote of 283 to 274

PARIS Feb 11 —The chamber of deputies approved the additional convention relative to the exchange of postal orders between France and the United States

Premier Floquet says that he has been a supporter of the scrutin de liste, but that he had renounced his advocacy of that system in the face of the sentiment of the country, which was now manifesting itself strongly in favor of scrutin d'arrondissement. They were, he continued in the presence of party conditions and pretensions founded on treason They must thwart the electoral conspiracy while waiting for the power of the law to foil the unlawful conspiracy of the left. [Applause]

The chamber, by a vote of 290 to 265, then agreed to proceed with the discussion of the articles of the scrutin d'arrondissement bill, all of which were afterwards adopted. The members of the right demanded that the final vote on the bill as a whole be an open one each deputy declaring his vote from the tribune This was agreed to

The scrutin d'arrondissement bill passed by a vote of 268 to 222. The chamber then adjourned until Thursday

Reception to Joseph Chamberlain.

GLASGOW Feb 11 —A reception was given here this evening in honor of Mr and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain

After some remarks on the relations between England and Russia Chamberlain said that there never was a time when it was impossible to recognize anything in the shape of separate nationalities in America "If we should follow the American system," he said "we would have to cut up the United Kingdom into twenty or thirty bits and award a parliament to each This, perhaps, would not be dangerous but it certainly would not be economical"

THE FEDERATED TRADES.

The Trouble Between the Granite and the Soft Stonecutters

Delegates From the Former Make a Statement and Retire—The Assembly Unable to Agree On Their Admission.

A regular meeting of the Federated Trades Assembly was held in their hall last night, President John O'Brien in the chair, T. F. Ma[illegible] secretary.

A number of bills were received and ordered paid.

The following credentials were received: Henry Kern from the Brewers Union; H. A. Hill from the Painters and Decorators Union; [illegible] Seaman from Multnomah Typographical [illegible] and John F. H[illegible] and [illegible] from the Granite Cutters Union.

A motion was made that [illegible] admitted to seats except those from the Granite Cutters Union. After [illegible] vice president Kilfether took the chair, and spoke in favor of admitting the granite cutters [illegible] union chartered [illegible] national [illegible] and [illegible] American Federation [illegible]

[illegible]

The amendment was carried and the question as amended was adopted. The delegates were invited into the hall and after the result of the vote was stated they were invited to make statements in their defense and in regard to the trouble with soft stone cutters.

Alex Kilfether and others asked several questions, which were answered, mostly [illegible] stone and tools, both unions through their delegates, claiming the [illegible] much used in building, especially for foundations in this city and [illegible] the construction of masonry work [illegible]

Remarks bordering slightly contrary to the chair ended the next order, and the granite cutters retired.

A communication was received from [illegible] Dyer, national union secretary of the Granite Cutters Union, which was received and placed on file. It was a protest against the previous action of the assembly regarding the granite cutters.

A communication was received from the [illegible] Protective Union, which was received; also one from Multnomah Typographical Union, and one from the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

The communication from the Tailors Union called the attention of the friends of organized labor to the union merchant tailor, with the hope that the journeyman should receive a just compensation for his labor, and appealing for aid in resisting the unjust demands of the non-union bosses. The names of the union shops were [illegible]

A motion was made indorsing the action of the Tailors Union and was amended to urge the patronage of union made goods to all the labor organizations and to include the brewers of this city, to patronize only union beer, all of which amendments and motion prevailed.

The communication from the Typographical Union was a resolution in favor of the adoption of the [illegible] right bill by congress. The action of the Typographical Union was indorsed by the assembly in the matter.

The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners [illegible] Delegate [illegible] Mahon [illegible] secretary [illegible] unanimously elected [illegible]

A [illegible] vote of thanks was tendered [illegible] for addressing the open meeting of February 1 on the subject of [illegible] laws, and for a copy of his address.

After deciding to postpone open meetings for the present, and [illegible] other business regarding individual grievances, etc, under the head of good and welfare, President O'Brien, on behalf of the assembly, went to the desk of Miss A Coburn, the treasurer, and [illegible] speaking of her as skillful and [illegible] her trade [illegible] the assembly [illegible] fitness and ability [illegible] from her colleagues in the Federated Trades [illegible] form of a Greek cross hanging from a [illegible] crescent bearing her name and attached by [illegible] chains. Miss Coburn was quite surprised [illegible] receiving the handsome present, and [illegible] pinned it on her breast and in appropriate words thanked the delegates [illegible] the meeting adjourned [illegible] Monday [illegible] February [illegible]

ANOTHER LARGE BRICK BLOCK

H. W. Corbett Proposes to Erect a Fine [illegible] Structure on the Corner of Third and Oak

A number of workmen [illegible] in tearing down the old [illegible] city jail on the Oak street side [illegible] occupying the lot at the corner of Third and [illegible] joining the old building, is to be [illegible] and the entire site will be given to [illegible] of a large business block. Mr H. W. Corbett, the owner of the property, was seen and asked the meaning of all these changes. "My intention is," said Mr Corbett, "to build a [illegible] brick block on this corner. Work [illegible] will be commenced at once [illegible] as soon as the excavation is made. The plans are already drawn, but the [illegible] will not be [illegible] until after the basement has been excavated. The building is to be a five story brick structure having 100 feet frontage on Oak street and [illegible] on Third. The building will have [illegible] steam heating, and all other modern conveniences. The lower floor will likely be used for stores and the upper floors for offices."

"The old building," said Mr Corbett, pointing to the one about to be removed, "is one of the city's old landmarks. It was built in 18[illegible] and for a long number of years it was [illegible] ware store on the corner of Front and Oak street, where we are now doing business [illegible] block. As the city [illegible] removed to this corner to make way for the [illegible] block erected on its old site. It [illegible] moved for the second time this [illegible] corner of Fifth and Oak."

DAMAGES TO THE TRAVELER

[illegible]

The reporter found five or six carpenters on board engaged in constructing a new guard on the port side. The demolished timbers had all [illegible] removed and the cross timbers upon which the projecting platform was [illegible] have been firmly attached to the lower deck with good sized bolts about one foot and a half apart the entire length of the steamer. Captain Buchanan believes this will make it stronger and more durable than it was formerly. The portion of the hurricane deck under which the supports had been completely knocked away is again returned to its usual level and as particular care will be taken to have the strongest material that can be obtained put in [illegible] will not be the slightest danger of the collision causing this part of the Traveler to be weakened. The port side of the lower house between decks is entirely out, showing the excellent condition of the timbers and having the upper deck virtually unsupported. [illegible]

The Traveler was built in 187[illegible] by Captain Love [illegible] October of that year, [illegible] ready for work till the beginning of 187[illegible] She was immediately placed upon her [illegible] route to Cathlamet and Washougal, and no accident has ever happened of any consequence during that time except the recent disaster. [illegible] result of my [illegible] years of experience and practical [illegible] little matter of keeping up and adding to the fertility of our soil, and indeed it is to become a very important subject for consideration some day. A trip across the continent [illegible] Ever since I [illegible] farming on my own account in Oregon [illegible] I have been constantly [illegible] methods [illegible] to produce [illegible] crops.

[illegible] take a general view of the matter [illegible] The climate of the United States [illegible] so much different from that of England that [illegible] that answer in England will not answer [illegible] in papers here that the [illegible] are so much more thoroughly manured in [illegible] than here that the crops are larger, when such is not even the case. I saw in England, where [illegible] thorough sprinkling of straw and muck [illegible] not rich in nitrogenous substance, has had such a marked change on a piece of meadow [illegible] and this is a fair contrast for nearly all the applications that are made under the conditions that exist.

In coming through New York and Pennsylvania in 188[illegible] I saw that the farmers [illegible] spread out their manure and had applied fully twice as much or [illegible] than I had seen applied in England [illegible] cent of all the [illegible] was wasted [illegible]

In England and California I have had practical [illegible] used bones at the rate of one ton per acre [illegible] hoofs at the rate of [illegible] superphosphate of lime, guano, sulphate of ammonia, [illegible] of potash and sulphate [illegible] most profitable [illegible] only hastens the state of affairs I am trying to speak of, viz the exhaustion of our soil.

Our great source of benefit to the farmer would be a change in the political state of all its [illegible] countries. [illegible] just as the once fertile fields of Virginia are run out now.

[illegible]

After seven [illegible] and trying my very best to [illegible] how to utilize profitably and making pay [illegible] by the attempt I have [illegible] the most practical way to meet the drawbacks [illegible] climate, and I believe if the thing was thoroughly tested that even where [illegible] failures have occurred in replenishing those worn Virginian lands although bought for $[illegible] per acre it could be made profitable and if any philanthropical person or persons with means to spare, felt disposed to aid me to carry out the experiment and share in the honor, I would be glad of his help. I fancy I hear someone say, can anything good come out of Oregon? Come and see.

EAST SIDE NEWS NOTES.

New Water Works Soon To Be Completed at St. John's.

It Took a Crowd to Make the Trade—Great Activity—Gospel Meetings—Appointed Attorney—Court Items

Mr J Beers was down to the flourishing East Side town of St John's Saturday and noted many improvements. He stated that the projectors of the water works are pushing the enterprise with all possible energy. The well is completed and an abundance of pure water was found. Water will be conducted through the streets of the place by means of wooden pipes from a large tank which will be [illegible] above the well about twenty feet. As the mouth of the well is on the hill above the town the elevation is sufficient [illegible] A pump has been ordered from the East and when it arrives the works will be about ready for operation. The completion of the new enterprise will greatly aid in building up the place. It is very seldom that a town has water works established [illegible]

[illegible]

Special religious services [illegible] Fifth and Seventh streets during the last two weeks with great interest and encouraging results. Five recent converts were [illegible] yesterday evening and several others have lately been received by baptism and by letter. Deep interest was manifested by the large audiences at both the services on Sunday and in the Sunday school. The meetings will be continued during the present week with preaching every night except Saturday, by Rev. George W Hill. [illegible] at 8. All will be made welcome.

LIVELY MOVEMENT

For the past three or four days there has been a lively movement on the East Side and more especially last Sunday. The country was literally full of people. Especially is this true of last Sunday. Almost every spot [illegible] ground was gone over and examined. Every day adds to the increase of general activity.

RECORDER'S COURT

Two citizens were fined yesterday in the recorder's court for permitting their stock to run at large and be impounded. Other cases come up to-day. The proprietor of the Casino was fined $10 yesterday for striking an Italian while ejecting him from his saloon.

RESIGNED—APPOINTED

At the meeting of the board of the East Portland Building and Loan Association held last night, Wm Show[illegible] tendered his resignation as attorney, and A. W. Llewellyn was elected to fill the vacancy.

BUYING SCHOOL BOOKS

The dealers in school books have been kept very busy since the close of school last Friday filling orders for school books. It has been a trying time and a [illegible] on the parental pocket.

MEETING [illegible]

Members of Washington Lodge No [illegible] are notified to attend a special meeting to-day at [illegible] sharp at the hall for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late brother W. G. [illegible] after which takes place from the residence on Ninth between C and D. Sojourning brethren are invited to attend. By order of [illegible] S. BULLOCK, W. M.

Mr. B. S. Pague, the Signal Service Observer, Explains How the $2000 Will be Spent

Eighteen Stations Over a Large Territory

[illegible]

A reporter sought to obtain from him yesterday some idea of what the $2000 which the bill appropriates, will be spent for.

"The United States government," said Mr Pague, "will provide the volunteer observers of the [illegible] with thermometers, and probably in some instances rain gauges. The secretary of state immediately upon the bill's becoming a law will proceed to get bids upon a supply of wind vanes, barometers, thermographs, barographs, [illegible] the state to have a full set of the instruments.

[illegible] When the place is not too far away I shall take the instruments with me, put them up and explain their management to the operators.

"We shall then begin the collection of data for publication."

"How soon can a printed report be sent out?"

"I expect to issue the first one about March 10. We already have six stations, at Astoria, Portland, [illegible] and Lakeview and Fort Klamath. [illegible] make the service more comprehensive and valuable I established new stations at Spokane, Fort Canby, [illegible] and Walla Walla, making ten. Now, in addition to these I have in mind and propose to fit up for observations, eight other stations.

At La Grande Mr J. K. Romig has volunteered to do the work, and at The Dalles Mr Brooks and Mr A. J. Watson is already taking rainfall observations. For several years Mr Thomas Pierce has been doing similar work at Lola, and Mr John [illegible] at Albany. Some one is stationed at Mount Angel whose name I forget, and Dr J. G. Jessup at [illegible] Pass. Mr George Bennett of Bandon, Coos county, and Dr Wise, at East Portland, complete the list. These eighteen stations will cover the territory pretty well."

"What will your publication contain?"

"My idea has always been different from that of most Eastern states. Now here are the monthly reports of the state service of Ohio and Pennsylvania. They are much more elaborate and extensive in the data than we can hope to publish, but they are almost wholly of value to scientific men. The average reader can derive no benefit from them however, as the tables show no comparison and there is no discussion on a popular basis of their showing. I propose to supplement the tables by considerable reading matter which will be of practical benefit to the public at large. There will be a comparison of previous months and years, and important summaries of crop reports, made plain enough for the general comparison. At the same time, the scientific data will be full and adequate for all purposes."

"How will the expense of the publication be met?"

"The bill provides that the state printer shall print 500 copies monthly of the report. The $2000 appropriation will cover all the cost of the maintenance as well as the establishment of the service until such time as the state sees fit to increase its scope and the number of the stations."

MEETING OF TEMPERANCE WORKERS

An Important Lecture To Be Delivered in March—Delegates to the State Alliance

The Portland W. C. T. U. met at their hall [illegible] First street yesterday at [illegible] P. M. The president, Mrs A. D. Miller, [illegible] the chair. After devotional and singing, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The [illegible] collections and [illegible] then reported.

Mrs A. D. Miller reported that during January 1000 pages of literature passed through her hands [illegible] at the Tabernacle last Wednesday night.

Mrs Ogden spoke in behalf of the [illegible], saying that it was impossible for any one to be an [illegible] W. C. T. U. worker without taking the national [illegible] of the society. Mrs Miller, Mrs [illegible] and others supported her position.

The president then brought up the subject of parlor [illegible] saying that she had spoken with Dr King about giving the first [illegible] afternoon of the second Tuesday in March. A motion was made and carried [illegible] the W. C. T. U. hall and that the union invite Dr King to deliver it.

An announcement by the president to have 500 cards printed announcing the lecture, was carried after a lengthy discussion.

A motion was carried to have a superintendent appointed for the department of labor and capital.

The following delegates were elected to represent the society at the state temperance alliance to be held at Albany, February 20: Mrs Amos, Mrs Dahlgish, Miss Weeden, Mrs [illegible] with Mrs Pierce and Mrs [illegible] as alternates.

The president announced the next gospel temperance meeting to be conducted by Mrs Montgomery at the W. C. T. U. hall Saturday evening, after which they adjourned by singing, "Blest Be the Tie."

Teeth that loosen through ill health

COLVILLE COUNTY.

Northeastern Washington Territory Will Have a Railroad Next Summer.

COLVILLE, W. T., Feb 6.

The unceasing demands of the Colville region for railroad communications with Spokane Falls have, from every indication, been acceded to and the only remaining effort on the part of Dame Enterprise is to put down the track from the Falls to Little Dalles, on the Columbia river, near the British line, and turn the locomotive loose. The great mineral fields seem to throb under the exhilarating influence of prospective good times and miners who have long been idle have gone to work with energy upon their prospects. The result of development work in nearly every instance has been very good, and many of the claims are proving to be mines of great value. The chief products are lead and silver and the immediate prospect of the extensive deposits of those metals promises [illegible] history of Washington [illegible]

There are dozens of [illegible] camps covering a territory of fully 40 [illegible] including the Colville Indian reservation. [illegible]

MORTALITY AND WATER SUPPLY

HOOD RIVER, Or., Feb 10.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

Your editorial announcement in to-day's Oregonian that the rate of mortality in Liverpool is 18.8 per cent, most surely have been written while in a hurry to go to press. Such depopulation would rapidly bring any city to an end. [illegible] usual birth rate is only [illegible] per cent and the death rate, which averaged during the ten years 1861-1870 [illegible] per cent, had been reduced in 188[illegible] to [illegible] and to still lower figures in 1887 and 1888.

The figures you quote probably apply to infant mortality, which in Liverpool, as in most other overcrowded localities, is terrible. Statistics from the registrar general's reports show in the ten years above quoted (1861-70 inclusive) out of every 1000 children born, as many as [illegible] or nearly one half, succumbed before reaching the age of [illegible]. The largest mortality occurring under the age of 1 year, viz 190 out of every 1000. [illegible] this rate had been exceeded [illegible] 1000 births. On comparing the last named figures with the rate of about 100 deaths per 1000 births in the healthiest districts in England in those ten years, some idea may be gained of the enormous waste of human life going on in this civilized nineteenth century.

It is possible that American pie, pork, pickles and hot biscuit, by some supposed to form the staple articles of food of the masses of this country, might reduce this mortality, but I fear that improper and insufficient food is not the only cause of the sickness and deaths in question.

Without discussing the faulty conditions of the case of Liverpool infants, overcrowding, neglect, ignorance of parents, hereditary debility of children and various local causes, there is one factor recognized by the municipality as so needful before they can feel that they have performed their duty as regards the public health, I mean the water supply. [illegible] tapping Bala Lake in Wales. Manchester is drawing on [illegible] a hundred miles away, and Glasgow has long been in possession of a magnificent supply from Loch Katrine.

It is to be hoped that Portland, which may shortly become the Glasgow of the North Pacific coast, may soon have as good a supply as her prototype.

Some pessimists maintain that sanitary measures have reached the limit of their usefulness, but while it is possible to prove that the death rate of large cities has been reduced from 80 per 1000 [illegible] per 1000 at the present time [illegible]

THE SUNDAY LAW

NEWBERG, Or., Feb [illegible]

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

The Sunday law is a matter of public discussion [illegible] Sunday law of legal rest. The word Sabbath implies more than what we mean in a Sunday law. The Sabbath is a religious ordinance given to society, not by civil law, but by the Higher law. It is defined as the rest of the holy Sabbath unto the Lord. This is a religious institution [illegible] Under our system of government [illegible] we would not [illegible] Sabbath law. But we could rightly without interfering with any religious faith, [illegible] Sunday is a rest day, for this day of the week is a most universally kept as a rest day in social law by our Christian civilization. The Sunday law desired is a civil law, [illegible] alone to civil matters, founded in the right of the people to have holiday, especially the seventh day rest. The right and demand of rest for each calls for a law of rest for all. It is here the civil law plants its authority. It is a law of protection for the toiling masses in making a uniform and universal rest day in civil life in conformity with social law. The Sunday law would not be a religious law, for it would not force any one to religiously observe that day. The religious observance of the Sabbath would be left, as it now is, to the religious bodies of society for its enforcement through moral and religious law and not civil law, and the Jew and Christian alike would still be protected in their worship from molestation. The Jew and Seventh Day Adventists could not properly complain of religious persecution or even hate for use with their religion, if for civil purposes in regard to a uniform civil rest day all factories and shops should be closed and all public annoyances of business should be made to cease on Sunday, for this class should be made to respect the rights of the general public in regard to public annoyances, because it is a civil and not a religious right required and it is the business of law and government to see after civil rights. Sunday is the social rest day for the whole Christian world. We have no other seventh day general rest. Government, in its departments, recognizes this social law and it should be made civil law to protect the general public in this rest. There are social evils which demand state and municipal Sunday laws, especially certain popular amusements such as shows and Sunday [illegible] should be suppressed in the interest of public sentiment. The saloon should be closed for all time, but until [illegible] should be shut by law on Sunday. New York city, like all great cities, is difficult to govern on Sundays when shop hands and laborers of all kinds are free. [illegible] but the Sunday law in the hands of such men as Mayor Hewitt wonderfully checks those evils and the city has happier times. Sunday laws are necessary for political, social and moral reasons without interfering with religious beliefs.

It is objected that Sunday is not Sabbath. It is not in civil law, but we think in social and religious law that [illegible] is as much the Christian Sabbath as Saturday is the Jewish Sabbath, because it fills the definition of Sabbath as a consecrated rest in the same manner and sense and founded on the same law as the [illegible] Sabbath. [illegible]

In Christianity, by the word of God through his spirit, Christian laws in the judgment and conscience of the individual and the right of private opinion is equal with all the [illegible] of man. The aggregation of private opinion forms public opinion and social law. This crystallizes into civil law for all matters under what we believe to be our Christian system of government. As the individual is less than society he is in subjection to law, not to opinion and general volition, but in whatever affects the commonwealth, and in this our laws may properly legislate about Sunday social life. We need Sunday laws, not a Puritan Sabbath, not a religious law interfering with religious liberty, but laws protecting all alike in a rest day.

DR. DARRIN VICTORIOUS.

Mr. Chapman writes as follows to Dr. Darrin: "My wife is still improving in health. The asthma, cough and female troubles are nearly well—in fact better than she has been for twenty years. The catarrhal discharges into her throat are rapidly diminishing. Taking her case as a whole she is fifty per cent better, and she thinks there is no doctor on earth like Dr. Darrin.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, FEB. 12.

DEFEAT OF THE WATER BILL.

The Portland water bill is lost. It is a misfortune to the city and to the state. Defeat of the bill is due to the determination of the governor and a number of members of the legislature to maintain the theory that bonds should be taxed, which they knew never will be taxed at all, in any possible circumstances.

The Willamette river water that Portland uses is not good water; but we have used it for a long time and could still get on with it, did our works give us an adequate supply. But the supply is scant, and as the city is growing rapidly, is rapidly becoming scantier. If more Willamette water is to be supplied, a large sum of money must be expended to get it; and the city would prefer to spend its money in getting good water and a permanent supply.

Want of good water in ample supply is a great drawback to a city. But since the governor and representatives of the rural counties seem determined that Portland shall not be allowed to employ its credit, without burden and impediment, to get a water supply, nothing remains but to submit. The situation, however, is anything but an agreeable one, and the thought that Portland is hampered and beaten in her effort to get a water supply by a stupid theory as to taxation of the bonds, though even the supporters of the theory themselves admit that in no circumstances or conditions can a dollar be derived from their taxation, doesn't make it more satisfactory.

It is unfortunate that this question has taken up so much of the time of the session, and has come to nothing at last. There are some other things yet to be attended to and the time is short, notably the questions relating to the commerce of the Columbia river. These have been very fully discussed, and we trust the legislature will act upon them.

AN OLD CLAIM.

The passage of Watts's bill for the relief of Joel J. Hembree recalls a bloody incident of a pioneer era. The claim was an old one, founded upon papers that came to light upon the death of Nancy Hembree, widow of Absalom J. Hembree, who was killed in the Yakima Indian war of 1855-6. He was a captain of Yamhill county volunteers and was drawn into an ambuscade, shot and scalped by the barbarous savages—his men by a brave charge recovering his body and bearing it to his family at Lafayette for burial. The excitement of the time was intense, and groundless fears of night surprise from Indians extended far into the interior of the Willamette valley. At Forest Grove a watch was kept for weeks in the tower that surmounted the old academy building at that place, and a stockade was actually begun around the structure to which, in case of stress, the villagers might fly for safety.

Though Captain Hembree met his death several hundred miles to the north, in the then wilderness east of the Cascade mountains, the bringing of his body home, the ghastly spectacle of his gray-white face, surmounted by a handkerchief arranged to conceal the loss of his scalp, brought the tragedy and treachery inseparable from an Indian war on the border close to every home.

As to the bill in question, it was, perhaps, just enough to allow it, though, doubtless, many equally just claims will never be presented; but its consideration has revived in many minds memories of a time of tragic significance to pioneer Oregonians. The original claim was an insignificant one, and whether preserved by the widow of the pioneer Indian fighter as a memorial of him or with a hope that it might be made available by his children, is chiefly a matter of conjecture. The amount is small, less than $500, which sum is about three times the original claim. But the demand for its payment has brought, by a swift reverse of thought, the Oregon of to-day, in sharp contrast with the Oregon of a third of a century ago, and given voice, around many firesides to incidents in its unwritten history, the storehouse of which is the memory of the pioneer.

ABSENCE AND TARDINESS.

Parents who have children in attendance upon the public schools of this city will please bear in mind that the stereotyped excuse, which is no excuse at all, although it reads: "Please excuse Johnny," or, "Mary had to mind the baby; please excuse her," will not be considered valid by the teachers in charge hereafter.

The superintendent and teachers have given much anxious thought to this phase of the school problem. Indeed, it has been found to be one of the most constantly recurring annoyances that has beset them in connection with their duties as educators. Effort has at length been rewarded by an amendment by the school board to the rule governing cases of absence or tardiness, which provides that sickness of the pupil, or sickness in the family, requiring the attendance of the pupil at home, shall be the only valid grounds upon which pupils may be excused.

It is a fact recognized by all educators that the most conscientious and fruitful work on the part of the teacher is in a degree thwarted by the frequent absence of pupils, while tardiness disturbs the harmony of the school and results in a low grade of work. Judicious co-operation on the part of parents would be sufficient to correct the matter, but as all parents are not painstaking in this particular, and as the public school authorities have to deal with all classes, a rule covering the point, somewhat strict in its limitations, was regarded as necessary to insure efficiency and maintain discipline. The provision that suspension shall follow seven half-days' inexcusable absence, or seven instances of tardiness, during the term, will no doubt be thought rather severe by some, but inasmuch as penalty in this as in all other cases only follows transgression, and as no exceptions will be made or favoritism shown, there is no just ground for complaint. Parents cannot have the services of their children a part of the time at home and at the same time secure for them the full benefits of the public schools. When they have once made up their minds to this they will find no hardship in a rule that ignores entirely all trivial excuses for the absence of children from their classes.

PROPOSED FOOD COMMISSIONER.

The bill that creates the office of food commissioner does away with that of dairy commissioner, and adds no expense to the state, for as amended by the house committee on agriculture, it causes only an expense of $1000 per annum. Some amendments have been made that renders the bill satisfactory to butter makers, and it fills a very important place in setting a guard upon all adulterations of food. Such adulterations are now very common, and have become dangerous because they are frauds that claim to be pure foods. The food commissioner under the new bill will have supervision of dairy products of all kinds, as well as all other foods, at no greater cost, and will cover a much wider field. With an able man as food commissioner, who will discharge his duties faithfully, it will have the effect to give Oregon producers a much better home field by excluding the adulterated goods now imported. All the lard now imported is adulterated, deprived of its best ingredients, and receives additions of cotton-seed oil, or some other, to replace the best part that is abstracted. There are many adulterations that are unwholesome, or that are inferior, [illegible] the field, with pure and wholesome Oregon products. To exclude these, or compel their sale under their true name and character will add hundreds of thousands of dollars to the value of home products, and be a great good for Oregon.

THE CORVALLIS COLLEGE CASE.

THE OREGONIAN yesterday presented two columns of the reply of the M. E. Church South to the report of the legislative committee that lately visited the college. This appeal is from "the trustees of Corvallis college, the corporate legal representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church South," and presents the fact of a contract with the state through its legislature, in December, 1870; and now the Methodist Church South deliberately claims "the right of supervision, direction, management and control of the Agricultural college of Oregon." The appeal of the church is supplemented by a long communication from the attorney of the Church South, Hon. George H. Williams, who of course must be considered as an attorney in this matter, working for the interest of his clients. Probably no man would, on general principles, object more strenuously to the state placing its literary institutions under the charge of any religious denomination, or consider such a course more obstructive of true public policy than would Judge Williams himself as a private citizen; but as an attorney he is to be excused for prosecuting the case of his clients in the best form possible.

Let us see what this most unpopular church demands. It simply claims full and exclusive control and management of the State Agricultural college, of the property of all the income of the endowment fund, and the $15,000 annually given Oregon for experimental purposes by the Hatch bill, and of all other moneys the state may apppropriate for the purpose. It claims the right to employ the professors, and prescribe the course of study; to control and manage, in fact, and have no one else say a word or offer a suggestion. It is simply impossible to entertain such a proposition for a moment. There is no church, or sect, or society in Oregon that could be trusted with such an interest, and the influence of the school would dwindle and become nothing from the moment such a course was followed.

These Methodist South people have a happy faculty of ignoring their own act and going back on their own agreements. According to the action of the conference held at Dayton, W. T., the trustees made over the property to the state, but now they discover that this conference was not legally constituted, though none other of its acts are questioned. So dishonest and perverse has been the course of this church that such men as Rev. J. R. N. Bell and Senator Cauthorn have abandoned them and denounce their pretensions as bitterly as possible. Those pretensions cannot be for a moment entertained or tolerated. Far better to abandon the college, forfeit the terms of the Hatch bill, and get rid of this Church South as a state institution by any means possible. The cool effrontery of the proposition, with the threat that if not conceded they will prosecute their case elsewhere, exceeds anything known in Oregon history. It is to be hoped that the legislature will not only heartily endorse the report of the committee but take such action as will show these people they have nothing to expect but to be made whole if they have lost anything by the state. If anything is due them, pay it, but as for paying them a large sum to endow a college at Tangent, which is the end they work for, and are running their bluff for, it is not to be thought of. The state is not to be speculated on in that way.

NATIONAL FORESTRY LAW.

Garden and Forest for January 30 has an able article calling for a halt in the reckless waste and improvidence of America manifested in the destruction of our forests. Forests must not only be protected but replanted systematically as they are in Europe. Each state needs to-day special statutes looking to the protection of woodland against wanton destruction in new states, and to the removal and conservation of forests in old sections of our national domain. Garden and Forest's plan is so excellent that we quote as follows:

> The first step should be the withdrawal from sale of all forest lands belonging to the nation—not permanently, but until a thorough examination of the forest regions shall have been made, and competent authorities shall have determined what must be retained and what may be put upon the market without injury to the interests involved. The army should be set to guard the forests of the nation against trespass; but this not permanently, only in preparation for the care of trained foresters.

The necessity for these stern measures is defended on the ground that the national forests cannot otherwise be protected against the settlers, the railroads, the mining companies, who all plunder the United States woods without scruple. When the forest goes the soil generally goes with it, as mountain lands that have lost their woods soon become worthless.

The final suggestion of Garden and Forest is that the government should at once provide a force of "adequately trained and equipped foresters"—for "the administration of a complete and permanent system and policy for the management of the forests on the public domain." European governments derive an enormous income from the protection of their forests and there is no reason why our national forest domain should not be protected. Garden and Forest concludes as follows:

> The commission should determine what portions of the existing forests on the public domain should be permanently preserved, and in what manner the remainder should be disposed of. The national forests can be so managed that they will be perpetually reproduced, and will yield forever an abundant supply of timber for the inhabitants of the adjacent country, and a revenue which will more than sustain the cost of the forest service. A national school of forestry should be established at a suitable place in one of the great mountain forests on the public lands, and its equipment should be as thorough and adequate for its purpose as is that of the national military academy at West Point.

A young farmer living near Evansville, Ind., recently enveloped himself in a sheet and arose in the path of a superstitious colored man as he was returning, after dark, ax in hand, from a day in the woods. The negro turned the joke on the would-be funny man by cleaving his head open with his ax. The punishment for "just a little fun" was in this case rather severe, but not more so than is frequently inflicted by these excessively funny people, the practical jokers, as numerous cases of death and insanity from fright have proven.

Minister Phelps has come home, but not to resign. He will stay by Cleveland and draw his salary as long as he can. He has got all the glory, of a society kind, that is possible out of the position, and when he gets all the money there is in it, he will adjust his eye-glasses, look loftily about him and retire. In the meantime, he is likely to be interviewed by ambitious reporters and his first impressions of the United States secured for publication.

With many persons there is or long has been a notion that when the moon "runs high" in winter the weather is sure to be cold. But the moon has been "running high" during the last two months and there never has been a milder winter. There is not much in moon lore.

This week and one more, and then the hard-worked member will pocket his per diem and mileage, hie him to his home and explain to his admiring constituency: "See what a prodigious number of bills I introduced."

GENERAL HARRISON'S CALLERS.

Delegate-Elect Allen, of Washington, Speaks in Favor of Admission.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 11.—Nothing new has developed to-day about the cabinet. There is a perceptible decrease here in the daily volume of cabinet gossip. General Harrison's visitors to-day were from widely different sections, Massachusetts, Washington territory and New Mexico being represented. Delegate-elect John B. Allen, of Walla Walla, W. T., was accompanied in his call by Hon. John M. Butler, of this city, and Judge Gould, of Delhi. Allen made no cabinet suggestions to General Harrison, but spoke urgently, on behalf of his people, for the admission of Washington territory along with Dakota and others, stating that the people were united and anxious for statehood.

James A. Spradling, of Santa Fe, New Mexico, managing editor of the New Mexican, called to advocate his old friend General Powell Clayton for a place in the cabinet.

Mr. Spradling is an earnest advocate of statehood for New Mexico, and vigorously repels the charge that the people of that territory are not prepared and able to successfully assume independent government. He says that the objections, at this time, come from a few politicians and bankers in the territory, who perceive that, if the territory is admitted, they will lose their grip on the control of affairs. The statement, widely published, that the official records of the legislature and courts are kept in the Spanish language only he declared to be a falsehood. He is the public printer of the territory.

Spradling also says that there are three prominent names mentioned for the governorship of New Mexico; Joseph W. Dwyer, of Raton, formerly private secretary to Chief Justice Chase, A. L. Morrison of Santa Fe, ex-United States marshal under Arthur, who took a prominent part in the late campaign in New York as organizer of the Irish American republican leagues, and L. Bradford Prince, ex-chief justice of the territory under President Hayes.

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN TELFER.—Captain W. G. Telfer, of the real estate firm of Telfer & Stearns, died at his home in East Portland yesterday morning, after an illness of less than a week. From the night of the 4th, when he was attacked with a congestive chill, he steadily grew weaker until death relieved him. The direct cause of his death was pneumonia and heart trouble. Captain Telfer came to this city four years ago from Minneapolis, where he was prominently identified with the excursion business between the city and the famous summer resort, Lake Minnetonka. For a time he was proprietor of the large Lyndale hotel at Lake Calhoun, but when this magnificent structure went up in flames, he turned his attention more exclusively to the management of the excursion business of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway. During several seasons he commanded the company's large pleasure steamer on the lake, acting at the same time as general manager of the excursion business. In business he always held the confidence of his superiors and the respect and esteem of his subordinates. His genial nature and many social qualities won for him a host of friends. He left Minnesota and severed his connections with the railway company only to escape the rigors of the climate. He leaves a wife and son and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. His son, George F. is connected with the firm of Lewis & Dryden, printers.

STANDARD THEATER.—The week opened at the Standard theater last night with a number of new attractions. Miss Adele Purvis, in her performance on the swinging slack wire and brilliant juggling act on a revolving globe, is without exception the most clever performer of this class of any who have ever given an exhibition in this city. The three Romalo brothers, acrobats, and Leonzo the American juggler, gave excellent exhibitions, as the applause of the audience well testified. The "French Dancing Master," a comic pantomime, by the Zanfretta family, proved quite a hit. The performances throughout were above the average to be seen in vaudeville theaters, showing that the Standard is sustaining its reputation for giving a good entertainment. The audience last night was as large as usual.

THE DOG IS NOT CREMATED.—Rumors have been going the rounds during the past few days that at a recent burial of a Chinaman in East Portland a live dog was offered as a sacrifice to the flames. Officer Martin yesterday made an investigation and reports that there is no truth in these rumors. The facts of the case are that a young Chinaman died in East Portland several days ago. This Chinaman had a pet dog which was so affected by its master's demise that it refused to eat. When the funeral took place the dog followed the remains to the cemetery and that was the last seen of the animal. Instead, however, of being cremated, the little dog is reported doing well under the care of the sexton, who picked it up after the mourners had left the cemetery.

STOLE HIS SAMPLE CASE.—W. L. Bilger, a traveling salesman for Thompson, Delfart & Co., mourns the loss of the contents of his well filled sample case, containing cutlery and other articles coming under the classification of hardware. While stopping in a hotel at Puyallup, last Saturday, some one entered his room between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening and made way with everything he had in his sample case. The case itself was left behind. Mr. Bilger states that the thief got about 250 pocket knives and a large number of scissors, razors and other small cutlery. Every article was marked in gilt letters with a number and price, so that there should be no trouble in detecting the stolen goods if offered for sale.

A COTERIE OF CHAMPIONS.—Jailer Dougherty has lately had the honor of entertaining a number of noted personages, who have been enjoying the hospitality of the county jail. Within the past few months the Multnomah county jail has housed an interesting group of champions, a distinction of which every jail cannot boast of. Among the champions who have been in the jail and those who are there now may be mentioned Frank Matlock, champion pool player; Sam Johnson (colored jockey), champion horseback rider; Frank Donnelly, champion six-day "go-as-you-please" walker; John Smith, champion liar; and William Brooks, champion crow eater of Chicago.

FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.—A short time since Alex. Davis, first mate of the C. S. Holbert, was arrested on complaint of R. Jewell, one of the crew, charging him with assault on the high seas. Instead of appearing to testify against the accused they disappeared. Yesterday Deputy United States Marshal H. A. Smith of Astoria brought up Jewell and a shipmate, John Ding, who are charged with contempt of court. They were very anxious to have Davis arrested, and from their subsequent actions in the case it looks as if some influence had been brought to bear on them. They will probably find that the United States court is not an institution to be fooled with.

SPRINKLING THE STREETS.—The committee on streets has advertised for three new sprinkling wagons. As the city now has eight, three more should enable the superintendent of street cleaning and sprinkling, Mr. Fred Matthews, to hold down the dust in good style next season. If there was any wind now sprinkling would be needed, as the streets are about as dry and dusty as they ever get. The people of Portland will need something to console them this morning when they read the fate of the water bill, and they can console themselves with the fact that Willamette water is just as good as Bull Run water for sprinkling streets or irrigating gardens.

THEY SHOULD BE PROSECUTED.—Some of those useless and more than useless members of the community known as Macquereaux are already out catching trout in the streams in the vicinity of the city. No decent person will go trout fishing till the end of the close season, and by that time these macqs have caught all the trout. They do this every spring. When ordered to any other premises they skulk around and as soon as out of sight go to fishing again. About the only good the law protecting trout does is to protect them for these fellows. They do not work and are not "vagged," so they have plenty of time to fish.

THEY RESENTED THE INSULT.—Mr. R. Scott of Milwaukie, has a number of hives of bees in which he takes great interest. He has noticed that they have been working of late gathering "bee bread," and being afraid that their winter supply of honey was exhausted he thought he would look into a hive and see. He opened the back door of the hive, instead of going to the front door, as etiquette demands when visiting, and the enraged bees resented his intrusion by closing his optics. He will wait till the bees are plumb starved to death before he again attempts to examine their larder.

THE REVIVAL AT ALBINA.—The revival services conducted by Rev. T. L. Jones in the M. E. church, Albina, for the past two weeks, have been attended with very marked success. The audiences have been the largest that have ever attended revival services in Albina. Over eighty have been to the altar as seekers of religion. Sixty have thus far been converted since the meetings began, forty have joined the M. E. church. The meetings are to be continued every day except Saturday, the present week at 2:30 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.

THE RUN OF SMELT.—The smelt continue to linger along the lower river. An advance guard has reached the Cowlitz river, and a few boxes per day are being received in this market. No large catch has been made at any point as yet, and the price, which started at 8 cents per pound, now remains fixed at 1½ cents. Fishermen are beginning to think that there will be no big run of smelt this season, but a heavy rain may start the schools up stream. With present transportation facilities many tons could be shipped to remunerative markets if they could be procured.

HATCHING OUT FINELY.—Mr. Frank J. Ellis, in charge of the fish commission car which left here a few days since for Coeur d'Alene, writes to THE OREGONIAN that the whitefish are hatching out finely there. On Saturday last [illegible], one of Mr. Ellis's assistants, left Portland [illegible] with 400,000 of the young fish. Mr. Ellis says the waters of Coeur d'Alene and Pend Oreille seem to be just the place for whitefish, and he has no doubt but that they will do well. The fish car will probably be back by the last of this week.

ACCIDENT TO MISS VINCENT.—Miss Alice Vincent, the talented and accomplished actress of the Carleton Opera company, met with an accident in Los Angeles Sunday afternoon by being thrown from a horse. Miss Vincent was out riding with a party, when her horse became frightened by a passing bicycle. She struck the ground in such a manner as to break her left arm just below the elbow.

ALPINE CLUB MEETING.—There will be a regular monthly meeting of the Oregon Alpine Club at the rooms in the Portland Savings bank building at 8 o'clock this evening. As considerable business of importance is to be transacted a full attendance is desired. After the regular business of the club is disposed of, Rev. P. F. Gibney will deliver a lecture on "What is Man?"

ANOTHER ROAD.—In the article in yesterday morning's OREGONIAN relating to the proposed railroad branches of the Y. M. C. A., the Northern Pacific road was inadvertently mentioned in the place of the Union Pacific. It is the Union Pacific and the O. R. & N. Co. lines on which these departments will be established under the supervision of Manager Holcomb.

DENIES THE SOFT IMPEACHMENT.—Philpott, the footracer, says that Hirsch's explanation of his defeat Sunday is incorrect. Philpott says that he was not a party to any understanding by which he was to have the race, but that Hirsch wanted to win, and was not fast enough. He thinks he could beat Hirsch and give him twenty feet in 100 yards for from $200 to $500 a side.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—The Portland branch of the Irish National League of America has just held its regular meeting in its new quarters in St. Mary's hall, Stark street. The officers of the branch elected for the ensuing year are: President, Thos. Kearney; vice president, M. O'Leary; secretary, Jos. A. Hughes; treasurer, captain P. Maloney; sergeant at arms, — Pryne.

THROUGH TO DAVENPORT.—Mr. E. G. Fulton of the Northern Pacific is in receipt of telegraphic information from the construction department of the Central Washington branch of the Northern Pacific, to the effect that the line will be through to Davenport by the 15th inst. Davenport is in the center of a rich agricultural district, and about fifty miles beyond Cheney.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN SERVICE.—There will be an English Lutheran service in the Swedish church on B street, between Ninth and Tenth, this Tuesday evening. Rev. G. H. Gerberding of Fargo, D. T., who is here for the purpose of organizing an English Lutheran church, will preach. All Lutherans are cordially invited to be present.

REORGANIZING.—Company "I" has decided to throw itself boldly into the baseball arena again this year, and openly announces its intention to have the crack amateur team of the city. H. Bellinger has been chosen captain of the club, the battery will be Sinnott and Bellinger, short-stop, Farrell, and the remaining members Ovist, West, Coffee, Pangle, Henrichsen and Hall. The company elected at its last night's session S. N. Londers, W. T. Pangle and Henry Newman, new members.

LECTURE.—Bishop H. W. Warren, D. D., LL. D., bishop of the M. E. church, and author of "Recreations in Astronomy," and other works, will deliver his celebrated lecture, "The Force of a Sunbeam," in the Taylor street M. E. church, on Wednesday evening, February 13, at 8 o'clock. Admission 50 cents. Bishop Warren is a brilliant orator, and this lecture is highly instructive and entertaining.

LAND HUNTERS.—An elderly man was met on First street by a reporter yesterday, searching for a ticket office where he could procure a "land hunter's ticket." In answer to inquiries he said he was one of a party from Missouri. He had friends in Southern Oregon and in Eastern Washington. They were going out to look at Southern Oregon first as they were in search of a warm climate.

THOSE WHO HAVE THE CONTRACT.—The statement has been made that Messrs. Langford & Bridges have the contract for Weinhard's new building. This is incorrect. Langford and Bridges are not now in partnership. Bridges has the contract for the building, and the brick work has been sublet to Langford.

VALENTINE BALL.—The Ladies' Relief Society will give a ball at the Armory hall St. Valentine's eve. Good music from Portland has been engaged and an enjoyable time is anticipated. St. Valentine will have charge of the postoffice, where those interesting missives will be exchanged among those who so desire.

LAID UP FOR REPAIRS.—Both engine No. 1 and hose-cart No. 1 are in shop for repairs. The engine is having new tubes put in the boiler, the old ones having become unsafe from continued use. The hose cart is to be rigged out with new wheels and otherwise overhauled.

INTERESTING LECTURE.—Rev. Mr. Rattray's lecture, "The Hero of One Battle," in Immanuel Baptist church, Sunday evening, was listened to by a very large and appreciative audience. His lecture for next Sunday, the second in a course of four, will be, "Good Homes and Who Make Them."

ROAD BUILT.—A good road has been constructed from the Barnes road, at a point in the vicinity of Johnson's slaughter house, up to the top of the highest point on the west side of the road, where a tract is being cleared off. From this point a fine view is obtained.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning in the case of the United States vs. the steamer City of Salem, an action brought against the steamer for carrying more passengers than the law allows.

ANOTHER TRAVELER HOME.—Mr. R. B. Wilson, traveling freight agent of the Northern Pacific, is in the city, after a tour through the Palouse country and to Spokane. He reports everything favorable in the present conditions of railroad progress.

ONLY A REMINDER.—It is unnecessary to say anything in praise of the great painting of the battle of Gettysburg. A reminder to the public that it is to be seen on Third street is all that is required.

SPECIAL TRAIN.—A settlers' special train, consisting of nine cars, loaded with 540 passengers, exclusive of children, left St. Paul on the 9th inst. for the Northwest. There are more to follow.

VALENTINE SOCIAL.—Will the ladies who are painting valentines for the Unitarian social Wednesday evening please send them to the church as early Wednesday afternoon as convenient.

HERE WE GO.—For to-day only elegant striped underwear at $1.50 per suit, regular $3 goods; biggest bargain ever offered this season, at Kohn's, Second and Morrison streets.

CORRECTION.—The size of the building lot in Johnson's addition advertised by M. J. Griffin in yesterday's issue should read 50x100. See his ad in our New To-day.

ORCHESTRAL UNION.—The second concert of the season will take place this evening at Masonic hall. Concert will commence promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

REMEMBER THAT the entire stock of curtains of the Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company is included in the great carpet sale this week.

REGULAR 20-CENT LINEN COLLAR for 10c for to-day at Kohn's, Second and Morrison streets.

CANADIAN ANNEXATION

An Ottawa special of the 9th inst intimates that there is a strong and rapidly increasing party in Canada whose avowed purpose is union between the United States and the Dominion. It is reported that the so-called liberal party of Canada is likely to espouse openly the issue of commercial union with the United States. The current number of the Forum contains an interesting article on "Obstacles to Annexation" from the pen of the Marquis of Lorne, the late governor general of Canada. The marquis has been snubbed by the court party in England as openly as any man ever is who marries the queen's daughter, but he writes of Canadian annexation with a degree of sense and literary ability that has never been manifested by any of his worthless royal brothers in law.

The Marquis of Lorne seeks to answer the question "Does Canada want a change? Does England want a change? Do the United States want a change?" The hostile force to annexation has usually been rated as the loyal English and Scotch blood, but Lorne argues that the strongest opposition would come from the French population of what is called Lower Canada and is now called Quebec Province. This race are the hardiest, healthiest, most prolific people in Canada. A distinguished Scotch physician of Montreal is quoted, who says that after "making examination for a long series of years into the physical powers of the young men of different blood in that city, he had found the French Canadian youth to excel all the others—English, Scots, Irish or Scandinavians—in general muscular power." Families of twenty and even thirty children are known among these primitive people, and large families are the invariable rule. This physical power and endurance of the French Canadian is not exaggerated by Lorne. In the New England states, where he has become more or less corrupted by contact with American life, the French Canadian is notorious for agility, endurance and hardihood. In the timber country of Northern New England no man can handle an axe with such strength and skill as the French Canadian chopper. In Lower Canada this vigorous prolific race are not dissipated; they live in small villages in a primitive way; they are simple in their habits, virtuous, pious to the point of superstition, subservient to their priests, who, like all priests in all times, are obsequious partisans of the government. The Canadian French cling to the woods and the country, the survival of the gypsy blood of his ancestors, the coureurs des bois who threaded the rivers and thickets of Canada as far back as the days of Marquette, Joliet and Frontenac. The rustic French Canadian of Lower Canada in his sobriety, industry, thrift, and his deference to the authority of his priest, is little changed from what he was 200 years ago. As a survival of an old conservative, vital civilization that has successfully resisted the impact and attrition of its neighbors, French Canada is the China of North America. They are an enduring, vital, industrious but not an ambitious race, for their performance is limited by the authority of their priests, and the priests openly urge their flocks to vote with the conservative party. Transplant to Lower Canada the simple peasantry of La Vendee that, under the summons of their priests, made that terrible revolt against the first French revolution, and you would have the French Canadian peasantry of Lower Canada to-day.

Lorne probably is right when he says that the French Canadian peasantry of Canada, of one blood and one birth, ignorant, upright, superstitious, would, under the influence of these priests, be a unit politically against annexation. On this hardy, prolific people, who naturally love the woods, Lorne relies for the peopling of that vast region between Ottawa and Hudson's bay, which to-day is but sparsely inhabited by whites. This French population has a certain protection for his religious prejudices and social usages that he would not expect under the government of the United States. He keeps his language, he keeps his superstition, he remains in his original state of social and political bondage to his priest that he did 200 years ago, and Lorne asks a question worth considering when he inquires:

Would it be advantageous to have a big home rule French Canadian question within the borders of the United States? The sagacious instinct of the United States people has led them to reject plans and schemes for adding territory occupied by incurably "foreign" populations. It is not to be expected that the great French section in the Northeast will ever become Anglicized, and it forms too large a stone to break up in any amalgamation mill.

The swallowing of a country is no easy matter, and digestion is yet more difficult. There is no doubt that the balance of political parties in the United States would be overthrown if ever were Canada to be compelled to take part in the ever recurring presidential election.

These are sensible words, and stamp the Marquis of Lorne as having inherited no small share of the strong sense and political sagacity that has always characterized his distinguished father, the Duke of Argyll, who was the only British peer that stood up heartily with Bright and Cobden for the Union cause from 1861 to 1865.

There is much force to the plea that Canada needs not annexation to make her a great nation. She has an area of 3,600,000 square miles, a population of over 5,000,000, more than 1000 miles of railway and the greatest transcontinental line in the world, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The annual revenue of Canada is from $36,000,000 to $40,000,000. Its fisheries are the finest in the world, and her wheat belt is greater than that of the belt of the East or West. She has enormous mineral resources, vast forests of timber. Her population will naturally double in every thirty years, so that in sixty years Canada will have 20,000,000 of people. In 1854 she had barely 2,000,000. The United States does not want Canada; Canada has the capacity to become an empire, and England would be a fool to break her grip upon a colony with so great a future.

The public will watch with some interest the outcome of the suit of A. M. Hamilton v. the Southern Pacific Railway Company. The suit was instituted by the plaintiff for damages for being put off of one of the company's trains for refusing to sign his ticket. The case will bring before the courts the question as to whether a railroad company can compel a man who purchases a ticket and pays full rates therefor to attach his signature thereto. It is not much trouble for a man to sign his name, to be sure, but to sign on compulsion—there's the rub. Besides, as there are various reasons why the railroad company desires such signature, there may be supposed to be equally weighty reasons why individuals may desire to withhold their names.

Emperor William forces his baby boys to rise at 6 o'clock and breakfast with him. The crown prince, a boy of 7, has obtained his first grade in the army and has now his own suite of rooms and household, but is still generously allowed to play an hour and a half a day. It takes a tremendous stretch of philosophy to regard a child with every avenue of childish enjoyment closed to him as fortunate, even with so weighty and responsible a thing as the imperial crown of Germany in prospect. The spectacle of these royal babies leaving their toys and hobbyhorses to be instructed twice daily in military drill is not one that promises success to the plans of that philanthropic body known as the "Universal Peace Society."

NOTE AND COMMENT.

A Dayton printer drew a prize in a lottery, and since then the people there have been investing their spare means in lottery tickets. The chances are that the man who drew the prize, having made a raise without labor, will keep on trying to do so and will in the end lose more than the prize brought him, and the infatuated people who are investing in the same way won't draw a prize in a hundred years. There is nothing more demoralizing to people whose minds are not over strong than a lottery or gambling scheme of this kind. Oregon has done the right thing in legislating against lotteries, and Washington had best follow so good an example.

Mothers in law are a much abused race of women and are much lighter color than often painted. Probably the exception rather than the rule occurs when one of them really fills the so often drawn picture the paragraphist draws. They are more often sinned against than sinning. The other day a H. [illegible] Dieckmann of St Louis stepped over into Canada to avoid his creditors, the most important of whom was his mother in law, who had trusted him to manage her estate. She supplemented a long attachment finally by an attachment suit. He was a speculator, and the old lady found herself a heavy loser by her confidence in him. When people sneer at mother in law they may as well investigate the misdeeds of sons in law.

Seven men from Missouri came to Pendleton on their way to examine Eastern Oregon and Washington for homes. They all have families and possess means, and when they have found new home spots, propose to return for their families. They were all pleased with country and climate, and the East Oregonian says they express the opinion that a large immigration will come to this land of promise. The fame of our region had spread through Missouri and many were intending to come here as soon as they can arrange to leave. It looks as if the immigration of 1889 will be the largest ever known. There is room for those who wish to locate and work for those who are willing to labor. There never was such a demand for labor as there is now.

Albany will soon be a railroad center if matters go as expected. The Herald says the narrow gauge is soon to be extended to that city. When that is done it will have the Oregon & California road and connection with the Southern Pacific system, the Oregon Pacific, that will in time have connection with the East, and the narrow gauge, that will bring the east side of the valley there to trade. Albany ought to grow and prosper and be the second town of the Willamette valley. It is in the midst of a splendid farming region and surrounded by a prosperous community, has water power introduced by canals from the Santiam and needs only its natural advantages to grow and prosper equal to all its hopes. Such a town needs no boom, for it is bound to prosper, anyway.

The white fish is good eating and much thought of in the West. Upper Klamath lake has been selected as a good sheet of water to propagate them, and some were sent there from the fish car lately here. The world is not only exchanging the products of different climes, but is exchanging the fish from different waters, so that the different oceans exchange their wealth of food fishes, and inland waters receive the respective fishes that thrive in distant localities. We get so used to seeing things done as matter of course that we fail to appreciate the fact that we in our generation are possessing and enjoying advantages that our fathers and mothers never dreamed of. What would they think to drop in on us and spend a few days trying to catch up? How long would it take them?

F. A. Stewart, who lives at the mouth of Rogue river, raised a rutabaga fifty six inches in circumference, weight forty nine and a half pounds. Also a common white turnip twelve inches through. Van Harris, in the Puyallup country, grew potatoes at the rate of 600 bushels to the acre, and another man near there grew $74 worth of [illegible] on an eighth of an acre. Everybody knows that all the rest of the country does equally well, and a glance at the exhibit made by the immigration bureau here in Portland will convince the most skeptical that everything worth having grows here in Oregon and there in Washington. People are coming here at such a fearful rate of increase over all former years that we may hope the country will be filled up and its production be materially increased.

Speaking of the values at which property is held in Portland and for four or five miles around, a gentleman who had sold an outside piece of land for $750 an acre, that cost him not long ago $350, exclaimed: "They say there is no boom, but what is it that makes land sell at such prices?" Portland certainly has no excitement in real estate, but trades are constantly made at unprecedented prices. Fortunately for the country there is similar good feeling all over Western Oregon. The county and towns feel the impulse of immigration and land is selling in small quantities to be converted into productive farms or planted in fruit. Real estate men all over are doing well, and there is mutual improvement and growth in town and country. This reacts and is felt in Portland as a natural consequence.

It is a question of one superlative crank should be able to oppose the honest verdict of eleven good men, yet such is often the case. A jury is often balanced ten to two, and if ten men are convinced of a fact and the court sees no impropriety in their verdict, why should not that determine it? Different states are considering this question of jury verdicts, and the world is gradually coming to the conclusion that one or two obstinate men should not be able to stand in the way and negative the opinions of ten or eleven better men. The judge has some discrimination in all cases, and something should be done to amend the evils of the jury system. The world wants justice, and popular justice seemed to exist in the jury box, but a long experience shows that juries are sometimes more uncertain than white men in general.

Mr Jennings of Lane county brings in a bill to have railroad companies pay for hogs and mules as well as other cattle. It is not easy to see why swine and mules should not be paid for if other animals are, and the people of the country will never be satisfied to have their stock killed without remuneration. If a fence [illegible] road is unfenced there must be more or less of such losses, and the question comes up whether the roads shall fence or the farmers, or both. In many cases a free right of way was given, and in others only a small consideration was received. The law does not favor those who would speculate on corporations, but facilitates the building of railroads by permitting them to take land at low prices. That being so, it seems only right that the railroads should do the fencing or pay for the losses that occur.

There was a grant to the state of 500,000 acres of land for purposes of internal improvement that was by a former legislature turned over to the school fund. It is of course right to swell the school fund by all proper means, but the government and for [illegible] to give us the means to establish an improvement fund, and the state made other use of it. Now when we come to need wagon roads the state makes [illegible] appropriation or the purpose, and the county that needs the [illegible] in the place that the state made away with the improvement fund it should do the work of improving roads etc., out of the state treasury. This winter there are a lot of wagon road bills [illegible] through, and there will be more hereafter. It looks as if it would have been as well to have left the improvement fund as it once stood.

The other day the mercury in the East and in Canada dropped down to a very zeroic figure. It was not "Mercury new lighted on a heaven-kissing hill," but mercury frozen solid or thawed down to 10 degs to 37 degs below zero. While they were enjoying themselves in such Arctic style, we, in the same latitude, were having frosty mornings and beautiful days that would make anybody satisfied. Since then Oregon has had finger marks of spring on the sky, and people go about in lusty health, without overcoats. "They say" it rains thirteen months out of twelve here in Oregon, and yet our winter is merging into spring and the ground is not yet thoroughly wet down. The wells that were spoken of as dry on January 1 are yet without water. There are exceptions to most rules, and this winter seems exceptionally mild and agreeable.

The people of Salem appreciate their excellent water power. They have raised a subsidy of $40,000 to insure the building of woolen mills and restore the prestige Salem once enjoyed as a manufacturing town. The burning of that woolen mill was a great detriment to the place, but they propose to have another mill and start manufacturing there again, hoping that soon all their good mill sites will be built upon. They already have two large flouring mills, but such mills require few hands and attract little trade. They have the agricultural works and the Pioneer oil mill that is idle and will remain so unless the woolen factory takes its place. There are yet other mill sites there, being perhaps eight or ten miles of river, and the flow from the Santiam can be increased to meet any probable demand. Very few cities possess the advantage that Salem has in this respect, and it may sometime be the seat of many industries that will make it a very prosperous place. The future has in store many changes and greater progress than we who have seen the slow days of the river state can well imagine or suppose. There is an instinct of time when all the resources of this region will be called on and made to do their part to increase general prosperity that is as certain as it has been long deferred.

There is every reason to expect this spring a greater influx of immigration than has occurred in former years. [illegible] vaulting ambition overleapt itself so badly in the form of two years ago that a reaction has taken place, and the world turns from the much vaunted climate and soil of that state to the region further north, where no boom was ever attempted, but where natural conditions are in every sense favorable. The Pacific Northwest is about to receive a large and really intelligent and enterprising addition to its population. We have word from all parts of the Union, North, South, East and West, that they are looking this way, and already the advance guard is here selecting homes and property for their families. The good time is coming, and despite all efforts to keep cool and act quietly a boom will force itself on the country we love before we can help ourselves. There may not always be land to take up for the mere entering, for this is not a new country, save in spots. There are remote districts where the public domain is yet free to newcomers, but a man with small means can purchase a small farm at reasonable price, not a fraction of what is demanded in California. It is astonishing to note the difference in values, but this difference cannot always be maintained. Land can be bought now in Oregon cheaper than ever again. The tide is turning and population pouring in that must cause improvement and advance in prices all along the line.

REMARKS ABOUT PERSONS

Robert L. Stevenson has taken to going barefoot and blowing on the flageolet. His next literary nightmare may be expected to be something unusually horrible.

Senator Sherman does not permit his political engagements or disappointments to interfere with business. He has secured permits for the erection of thirty houses on Capitol Hill, Washington.

The emperor of China will be married the 4th of March next. The same day the next president of the United States will plight his troth to Miss Columbia. It will be a great day on both sides of the planet.

General Boulanger's income for 1888 from all sources was 21,500 francs. His expenditures during the same time amounted to 3,200,000 francs, a trifling balance on the wrong side of the ledger of 178,500 francs.

Mr John Grundy of Polk county is the largest man in Arkansas. He is six feet ten inches in height, weighs [illegible] pounds, [illegible] and in strength is equal to three men. Still he entertains a wholesome regard for the opinions of Mr. Grundy.

Parker Pillsbury, the veteran abolitionist, lectured in Boston recently. Conversationally he expressed the opinion that efforts to introduce a prohibitory law effected by a political movement rather than as the result of public sentiment cannot produce much good.

Baron Hirsch, who has given $40,000,000 to the poor Jews of Russia, Poland, Hungary and Austria, is 54 years of age and childless. Besides this gift to the Jews Baron Hirsch gave $11,000,000 to Christian charities some time ago. His benefactions are unparalleled in the world's history.

George Ernest John Marie Boulanger is his full name. He seldom makes use of any but his surname, which just now seems to be a talisman of no small power. Boulanger was born at Rennes, a place noted for its game birds, the 29th of April 1837. He has, therefore, just reached the age at which Napoleon I died.

Francis Murphy refused to speak in Pennsylvania in favor of the prohibition amendment to the state constitution. He is reported to have said: "The Brooks law is an excellent measure, but the prohibition party is not satisfied with anything except a prohibitory law, which is not practical, as has been shown elsewhere."

President Cleveland has presented to Cal Brice a malacca cane handsomely mounted in gold and bearing the inscription: "From Grover Cleveland to Calvin S. Brice, Washington, November 6, 1888." And this is all the rainbow chaser has to show for his seven months of hard work and $100,000 of cash invested in the late democratic campaign.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, in presenting his medical library to the Boston Medical Library Association, has parted with a collection which has taken a lifetime to gather. The oldest book in the series was written in 1490 and the latest in 1887. Says Dr. Holmes: "These books are dear to me. I twig from some one of my nerves runs to every one of them, and they mark the progress of my study and the stepping stones of my professional life. If any of them can be to others as they have been to me, I am willing to part with them, even if they are such old and beloved companions."

Curious Facts About Immigration

New York Sun

One fifth of the immigration to this port from Europe last year was from two countries which have only recently begun to contribute to our population: Italy and Russia. The report from Castle Garden shows that out of 383,000 immigrants for the year 1888, were Italians and 32,957 were Russians. The immigration from these two countries was as high as that from Germany, and the immigration from Italy alone was just about equal to that from Ireland. We are informed that nearly the whole body of immigrants classified as Russians belong to the Hebrew race, and that they find life here so much more durable that they found it under the czar of Russia that they are encouraging their brethren whom they left behind them to follow their example in coming to America. There are several interesting features in the Castle Garden report for the last year.

Payments for Pensions

Chicago Tribune

The sum of $[illegible],175,000 was appropriated at the last session of congress for pensions for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889. Congress is now told that $8,[illegible] more will be needed to meet increasing demands under the laws. Otherwise payments must be delayed. It is [illegible] that this will help solve the surplus question and tend further to modify the impression that republics are ungrateful. The pensions now cost more than the interest on the national debt, the army, navy and the new fleet [illegible] that is being built.

Oregon's Dancing Item

Chicago Tribune

A young man in Oregon died lately from exhaustion caused by excessive dancing. Marked copies of newspapers containing the item are finding their way to General Harrison from all parts of the country. Some think it will break up the inaugural ball.

FATAL QUICKSANDS.

Five Persons Lose Their Lives on the Banks of the Rio Grande.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 11.—The Examiner's El Paso, Tex., special says: At Ysleta, ten miles from here, an accident occurred yesterday afternoon which cost five persons their lives. Dudley, Tinkey and Alice Jones, children of R. H. Jones, editor of the Ysleta Report, whose ages ranged from 8 to 14 years, and a lad named Witte, aged about 10 years, together with two other children, were playing in a sand cave on the banks of the Rio Grande, which they had converted into a playhouse. The quicksand fell in, submerging the three first named, but the others made their escape, ran screaming to the house and gave the alarm. Jones went immediately to the scene and rushed to save his children. The top of the cave fell, smothering him and one other person. The bodies of the victims, which were recovered, were buried to-day. Jones was formerly United States consul at Chihuahua, Mexico.

AMUSING REMARKS

A Fulton town revivalist was recently arrested [illegible] in a plot [illegible]. He was charged [illegible]

Mr. Winks—Folks say Mr. Weed, the cigar manufacturer, was converted at the revival last night. Mr. Winks—Guess it's true. I stepped in this morning for my favorite brand of two-for-five cigars, and I noticed the card "Pure Havana" had been moved over to the 3 cent box.—Philadelphia Press.

QUOTABILITY OF VARIOUS AUTHORS

Pall Mall Gazette

Which English author is the richest in supplying familiar quotations? I am prompted to ask the question by a remark in Mr John Morley's introduction to the new edition of Wordsworth. According to Mr Morley, Wordsworth "stands third on the list. Only two writers," he says, "have contributed so many lines of really popular use and application. In the handbooks of familiar quotation Wordsworth fills more space than anybody save Shakespeare and Pope." A reference to the last edition of Bartlett, which is the best collection, does not quite bear Mr Morley's statement. Here is a list of the number of pages filled by some of the authors severally:

Shakespeare	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible] Bible
Milton	[illegible]	[illegible]		[illegible]	6
Pope	[illegible]	Moore		Longfellow
Wordsworth	[illegible]	Scott		Young
Byron	[illegible]	Tennyson		Burns	5
Cowper	10	Gray		Campbell
Dryden				Chaucer	4

The Old Testament, it may be interesting to add, supplies twenty one pages of familiar quotations—the same number as Byron—and the New Testament ten.

The Minnesota Senator

W. D. Washburn, the newly elected senator from Minnesota, belongs to the famous Washburn family. He was born in Livermore, Me., in January, 1831, was graduated at Bowdoin in 1854. Went to Minneapolis in 18[illegible], and finally engaged in the lumber business, from which he has made a large part of a fortune of about $5,000,000. Railroad enterprises and one or two flouring mills have also figured in the above aggregate. He projected the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad, and is president of the Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie & Atlantic road. Mr. Washburn served in the Minnesota legislature, was back in 1868 and again in 1871. In 1878 he was elected to congress from the Third district, and was re-elected in 1880.

A Match Name for Walla Walla

Chicago Times

Is the name of that American harbor on the Samoan island Pago Pago or Pango Pango? Both forms are used. This phase of the question is about as important as the general controversy. And shall we not settle it by an international convention as it was at Pimlico too, where the [illegible] at the missionaries and the hymn book too? May it not be permitted under the circumstances mildly to suggest that the natives use the [illegible]?

More Teachers Than Students

Manchester (N. H.) Mirror

At a recent meeting of the trustees of one of our New Hampshire academies it was moved to amend the by laws so as to forbid the employment of more teachers than there were students, but it was voted down, for the institution has an endowment fund of about $10,000, and the income must be disposed of. It is possible to have too much of a good thing in the way of educational agencies. New Hampshire has it in her many old [illegible] academies.

No Need of a Thermometer

Pittsburg Times

Anxious Mother—I wish, Susan, that when you give baby a bath you would use the thermometer so as to ascertain whether the water is at the proper temperature.

Susan—Oh, don't you worry about that, ma'am. I don't need no thermometers. If the little one turns red the water's too hot; if it turns blue it's too cold, and that's all there is about it.

"A Word to the Wise Is Sufficient."

Catarrh is not simply an inconvenience, unpleasant to the sufferer and disgusting to others—it is an advanced outpost of approaching disease of worse type. Do not neglect its warning; it brings deadly evils in its train. Before it is too late, use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It reaches the seat of the ailment, and is the only thing that will. You may dose yourself with quack medicines till it is too late—till the streamlet becomes a resistless torrent. It is the matured invention of a scientific physician. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

FIFTY YEARS IN PRISON.

The Story of William Pierce, of Franklin County, N. Y.

AUBURN, N. Y., Jan. 27, 1889.—William Pierce, who was probably the oldest convict in the state in the point of continuous penal servitude, was this morning discharged from the state asylum for insane criminals, but he is not given his freedom. Pierce has spent nearly fifty years of his life behind the prison bars in this city for the murder of his father. He was sentenced to life imprisonment at Malone, Franklin county, August 15, 1839, and from that time until this morning he had not been outside the prison's walls, with the exception of his transfer to the asylum.

The history of the crime for which Pierce has spent a half a century behind the prison's gloomy walls has been long ago forgotten, and all remembrance of the deed has long since been effaced from the murderer's memory. The pardon which Governor Hill signed has no significance to the demented man.

The records of the prison show that when William Pierce was sentenced he was 16 years of age, five feet three inches tall and of light complexion. The description given fifty years ago would not have secured his recognition as he appeared at the Central depot this morning. He is now tall and [illegible], and weighs 310 pounds. He is so fat that he walks with difficulty, and it was impossible for him to raise his foot high enough to place it on the first step of the railroad car.

INSANITY THEN NOT A [illegible]

An idea of the time Pierce has spent in confinement is given by the thought that at the time he came to the prison the Auburn branch of the New York Central was not completed, and the journey from the scene of his crime in Franklin county was made in wagons through a wild country. This was nine years before Auburn was incorporated and twenty years before the insane asylum was completed and ready for occupants. It was also several years before Secretary Seward made his famous plea of insanity in behalf of the colored murderer of the Van Ness family, and the law came to recognize insanity as an excuse for crime. Had it been otherwise, Pierce would probably never have been sentenced to prison for life, but would have been placed in an asylum, for there is no doubt but his crime was that of an insane boy.

THE CRAZY BOY'S CRIME

He was the son of a Franklin county farmer and helped his father work the farm. When a mere child he was subject to fits of insanity and had a violent temper, which he could not control. While in this condition his father crossed him in one of his desires, and the crazy youth seized an ax and killed his parent, horribly mutilating the body. He then took a team of horses and tried to escape, but was captured, and, on conviction, sent to Auburn for life. Twenty years after he was transferred to the asylum.

As far as is known he has no friends. His life sentence was commuted by the governor and he was transferred to Ovid by order of the superintendent of the poor of Franklin county.

A SLAM-BANG REFORMER

A Peppery Boston Criticism on a Well-Known Chicago Bigot.

Boston Herald

This man is Dr. Herrick Johnson, of Chicago, and an illustration of his method is found in his recent address on "Sunday Newspapers." He classes them with the "Sunday concerts, the Sunday theaters, and the Sunday liquor saloons," and pities the Christian stockholder, the Christian publisher, the Christian editor, and even the Christian advertiser in the Sunday newspaper, who is congratulating himself on its great circulation.

When a man adopts this style of treatment he discharges a boomerang that returns to wound himself. He has a conception of Sabbath observance which he would like to impose upon the nation, and judging the community from his own narrow prejudice he bangs away at the Sunday newspapers as one of the great evils of modern society. His abuse is wholesale. It is on the slam bang style. He refuses to see the Sunday newspapers in any other light than that in which they strike his prejudices, and he places them in the worst light possible, and then asks the Washington audience before whom his diatribe was given to indorse him.

It is evident, by a careful reading of his address, which may be found in the February number of Our Day, that Dr. Johnson knows nothing about them, and would not inform himself if he could. He bangs away at them because he hates them, and while no one would deny that there are evils connected with the Sunday press, he utterly refuses to see it on its good side. The Sunday paper is to him an abominable and accursed thing, the ally of the devil and his latest device for ruining the country.

Dr. William T. Harris is perhaps as well entitled to an opinion as this slam bang reformer is, and his view, repeatedly expressed, is that the better class of Sunday newspapers deal with matters which do not receive attention elsewhere, and are broadening and building up society, exerting a wholesome influence and educating old and young to a wider appreciation of the good things of the age they live in. Dr. Johnson does not even damn with faint praise the Sunday newspaper. It is to him the accursed thing all through. It is this slam bang way of treating things in public life that one does not approve of, which too often marks the religious reformer and makes him unequal to his task.

Dr. Johnson's diatribe carries no weight, because the average man knows that he prejudices the case. It is this unwillingness to treat things fairly which too often marks the clerical mind and causes the intelligent layman to discount what clergymen advise for the improvement of social life.

They advocate impossible reforms, and then denounce the world because they are not adopted. Hardly one clergyman in a hundred seems willing to recognize the change in social life which the Sunday newspaper implies and emphasizes. If they would look at the Sunday paper in its educational light and not as the rival of the Christian pulpit, and would encourage the editors of the best Sunday papers to make them the complement of the pulpit in moral influence, they would act like sensible men, but the slam-bang style which Dr. Herrick Johnson adopts defeats even the righteous object which he has in mind.

CONDITION OF RANGE STOCK

Ochoco Review

By inquiry from stockmen from all parts of the county we learn that range stock generally is in good condition, and it is thought that the loss will not reach 1 per cent. This is indeed flattering when the condition of stock and the scarcity of grass on the range last fall is taken into consideration. The prospects at the beginning of winter was anything but flattering. The [illegible] having been dry, grass had not grown to its usual height, and there had been [illegible] 000 foreign sheep summered in the county, which had materially damaged the range, so stock had not fattened as they should. But this seems to be a specially favored section, and the present mild winter has saved the country a gross loss in live stock which could not have been avoided had the weather been severe.

Ice Factory at Salem

Capital Journal

Some weeks ago William B. Bushnell, a prominent New York capitalist and lover of [illegible] old Soragues pond [illegible] Salem a visit and decided to establish extensive ice works here. He viewed the city carefully and critically and made all arrangements and expected to be ready for manufacturing ice by the 1st of March. He is also locating works at Seattle and Tacoma.

H. W. Cottle is in communication with Mr. Bushnell, who is now in Chicago, and from him it is learned that machinery for the Salem factory was shipped from Chicago four days ago and is expected to arrive here next week. The plant shipped to this city is of a [illegible] ton capacity. With it were shipped two larger ones for Seattle and Tacoma.

The manager of the Seattle branch passed through here a few days ago, and when seen at the depot by Mr. Cottle said that Mr. Bushnell would be here soon, when the plant would be located and the work of constructing suitable buildings commenced.

It is proposed to make Salem the general distributing point for territories south as far as Ashland and north to Oregon City.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

NEW YORK, Feb 11.—The tone of [illegible] worse than last week. Most of the du[illegible] held with fully as much confidence [illegible] are promised actual support, outs[illegible] hides and wool. The Pacific coast is [illegible] interested.

Wool sales are light, but there is [illegible] yielding of former valuations.

Hops bear out the predictions of [illegible] the trade would revive here, irrespe[illegible] foreign call, and the last prices are re[illegible] through the list of state or Pacific.

There was a fair volume of trading [illegible] and a very good business in bonds last [illegible] sales of the former reached 1,080,000 sh[illegible] the latter over $15,000,000.

The bears say that the movement lo[illegible] establishment of steady and paying r[illegible] west of Chicago will fail of its object, [illegible] a position to understand the situati[illegible] ferently.

The heavy expansion of loans for s[illegible] shows plainly, in the absence of any [illegible] cantile demand for money, that Wall [illegible] a dull period of unusual duration, [illegible] lively interest in bond and stock matte[illegible] abundance of money is reflected in [illegible] low rates, in the face of an increase o[illegible] 000,000 in loans by the banks in th[illegible] weeks. NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The stock market was remarkably strong to-day, although the advances scored were in specialties principally, and the three leading groups of shares, the trunk lines, grangers and coal stocks, were all quiet, and fluctuated within the narrowest limits. At the opening the feeling was very bullish but the first prices were quite irregular as compared with the final figures of Saturday. The specialties took the lead in the upward movement, but the Oregon Short Line came to the front soon, followed by the Union Pacific. The Burlington was strongly attacked this afternoon and trading in the rest was somewhat restricted. The market closed strong generally at the best figures.

Government bonds have been dull but firm.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Produce receipts past 48 hours include 66,600 ctls wheat, 4,500 qr sks flour, 2000 sks potatoes, 2200 ctls barley.

Freights—Grain tonnage rather easier. The American ship W. R. Grace, 1799 tons, was chartered for wheat to U K, Havre or Antwerp, at 42s 6d. Ship Geo F Manson loads coal at Seattle for San Francisco. Tonnage in port engaged, 27,000 tons; in port, disengaged, 31,000 tons; listed to arrive, 214,000 tons.

Wheat—The market opened firm with a good shipping and speculative demand. For No 1 shipping, $1 41¼@1 42½ bid. Later on the market advanced to $1 42½@1 45 for choice shipping. Walla Walla sold at $1 41¾.

Futures opened active and higher, prices advancing some 3 cents per cental during the morning call. Sales were: 300 tons buyer year at $1 51½, 100 tons at $1 51⅝, 700 tons at $1 51¾, 100 tons at $1 51⅝, 1000 tons at $1 52½, 700 tons at $1 52⅜, 600 tons at $1 53, 100 tons at $1 53⅞, 200 tons at $1 52⅞. Buyer season gained 3¼c, selling at $1 48¾. Seller old year, $1 39½. On afternoon call prices were strong. Buyer year opened at $1 53¼, closed $1 52¼. Buyer season closed $1 48⅞.

Barley—Dry weather and small stocks of better grades of feed are making their influence felt upon the market. For choice feed values have been advanced to 82½@85c; common and good feed, 78¾@81¼c; brewing, 90c@$1 02. Options higher; buyer season closed at 90c, buyer the year at 99c.

Oats—Buyers are rather more disposed to operate and the feeling is improving, yet it is difficult to mark prices up and find buyers to pay the advance. We quote choice feed $1 10@1 12½; poor to fair feed, $1@1 07½; milling $1 15@1 17½.

Millstuffs—Fair inquiry and market steady. Bran, all kinds, $13@15 50; middlings, $14@17 per ton.

Potatoes—Stocks continue heavy and prices are unchanged.

Hops—Few buyers on the market and values nominal at 13@16½c.

Grain freights unchanged at 4¼d per bushel per steamer to Liverpool.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The tone of trade is no worse than last week. Most of the dull items are held with fully as much confidence, and a few are promised actual support. Outside of hops, hides and wool, the facility ... is not especially interested.

Wool sales are light, but there is no material yielding of former valuations.

Hops bear out the predictions of dealers that the trade would revive here irrespective of the foreign call, and the last prices reported hold through the list of state and Pacific.

There was a fair volume of trading in stocks and a very good business ... sales of the former reached 1,8[illegible],000 shares and of the latter over $15,000,000.

The bears say that the movement looking to the establishment of steady and paying railroad rates west of Chicago will fail of its object, but those in a position to understand the situation think differently.

The heavy expansion of loans for several weeks shows plainly in the absence of any special mercantile demand for money that Wall street, after a dull period of unusual duration, is taking a lively interest in bond and stock matters. A great abundance of money is reflected in continued low rates, in the face of an increase of some $22,000,000 in loans by the banks in the last four weeks. Call money is still 2 and 3 per cent. Ninety ... are quoted at about 1 per cent higher.

MISCELLANEOUS

DR. LIEBIG'S
Wonderful
GERMAN
Invigorator.

THE OLDEST GREATEST AND BEST REMEDY for the cure of Nervous and Physical Debility, Vital Exhaustion, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, Failing Memory and Relaxed and Enfeebled Condition of the Genito Urinary Organs.

It speedily cures Impotence, Early Decay, Loss of Vigor, SEMINAL WEAKNESS and all the real effects of youthful follies and abuse or EXCESSES OF MATURITY.

It permanently prevents all unnatural loss from the system as thousands can attest who have used the Remedy in the past quarter of a century which it has been before the public.

It is indeed a wonderful remedy, toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to a complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hyperesthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with one peculiar special treatment, is the only positive cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the hand of time moved back from age to youth.

Price of either Invigorator, $2. Case of six bottles, $10. Sent to any address covered securely from observation.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homeopathy every form of SPECIAL, PRIVATE or CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue the unnatural loss causes Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co. from Europe are regular college educated physicians and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness, discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication Prostatorrhea.

Most powerful electric belts free to patrons.

To prove the wonderful power of the Invigorator, a $2 bottle given or sent free. Consultation free and private.

LIEBIG DISPENSARY
400 Geary St., San Francisco, Cal.
Private entrance 405 Mason street, four blocks up Geary street from Kearney. Main entrance through Dispensary Drug Store.

"IT'S ONLY A COUGH" has brought many to untimely graves. What is a cough? The lungs, throat or bronchial tubes have been attacked by a cold, nature sounds an alarm-bell telling where the disease lies. Wisdom suggests "TRY Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry;" it has cured thousands of persons. As long as you cough there is danger, for the cough is a Danger Signal. Use "Wistar" and be cured. None genuine unless signed "I. BUTTS" on wrapper.

Cures in 1 TO 5 DAYS. Guaranteed not to cause Stricture. Mf'd only by the Evans Chemical Co. Cincinnati, Ohio. Trade Mark.

Big G has given universal satisfaction in the cure of Gonorrhoea and Gleet. I prescribe it and feel safe in recommending it to all sufferers.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETINGS.

Pilotage and Towage Bill Again Considered at a Special Session.

Another Letter From Manager Holcomb—The Thompson Resolution Discussed—Some Routine Business Transacted Last Night.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held yesterday forenoon to consider important matters in connection with the bill concerning pilotage and towage now before the legislature.

In the absence of President Donald Macleay, Vice-President Phillip C Schuyler presided. In stating the object of the meeting, he said

"We are here, gentlemen, to consider the statement made to me by Governor D. P Thompson, in which he informed me that if the Portland Board of Trade would guarantee the rates incorporated in the bill the committee would make a favorable report upon the bill, and, all opposition being withdrawn it would be passed at once. The matter for the board to consider is whether it will or can give the desired guarantee."

Secretary F K Arnold then stated that he was in receipt of another letter from Manager W H Holcomb, of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, relative to certain matters which appeared to be of vital interest to the bill. Mr Arnold then read the communication

MANAGER HOLCOMB'S LETTER.

PORTLAND Feb 11 1889

The Board of Trade, Portland Or —Gentlemen Referring to my letter addressed to the Board of Trade under Feb 6, giving the schedule of towage and pilotage rules which this company is ready to put into effect provided the Northup bill is passed by the legislature, it appears that some question has arisen as to the length of time the company would be bound by its guarantee therein given

While it must appear very clearly to those familiar with the situation that the conditions which surround the handling of the towage and pilotage of the Columbia bar and river are such that this company must, in protecting its own interests, live up to its promise. In order to leave no room for doubt I beg to state that the company hereby guarantees that the rates named will remain in effect for the period of two years from the date of my former letter or until February 6 1891.

By that time, should the matter require further legislation, the legislature being then in session it will have the opportunity of taking such action as might be necessary. Very respectfully yours

W H HOLCOMB Gen Manager

After some discussion Mr Arnold took up a resolution originally drafted by Hon D P Thompson, who is chairman of the house committee on commerce, relative to the board's assurance that the rates would be maintained as stated in the bill. Some slight changes had been made in the resolution by Mr Northup causing it to read as follows

THE THOMPSON RESOLUTION

"Resolved, That the Board of Trade of Portland Or., will agree and hereby does agree, that if the Northup bill, No 87, as recommended by the Portland Board of Trade, and setting forth the schedules of fees for pilotage, including towage as proposed by W H Holcomb, general manager of the O. R. & N. Co., shall be enacted into a law by the legislative assembly now in session, it will undertake and will guarantee the maintenance of the pilot boat and pilot and towage service at the Columbia river bar for a period of two years from the time the bill goes into effect

THE MATTER DISCUSSED

The question then arose as to the advisability of the O. R. & N Co. giving a bond to maintain the rates. Mr. Edward Cookingham, assistant general manager, said that he had been advised by the company's attorney, Mr Dolph, that such a bond could not legally be given. The company had guaranteed in Manager Holcomb's letters to see that the promises were kept, and it was a question of honor. Mr Cookingham further stated that so far as the promise made by the company, he considered they should have nothing to do with the passage of the bill as regards its urgency. It should appear patent to every one though, that the company's interests alone would be sufficient guarantee that the rates would be maintained as they have been incorporated in the bill, in accordance with Manager Holcomb's first letter

Hon. H. W Corbett said he thought that the fact that low rates would affect the O R. & N more favorable than any one else, was sufficient to set at rest all doubts regarding good faith and intention to maintain the rates

Captain George H Pope then called upon Ellis G. Hughes for a bit of legal opinion. He asked if a loophole might not be left through which Governor Pennoyer could veto the bill should there be no bond filed either by the board or the company

Mr. Hughes arose and said smilingly that he did not consider the question as to whether Governor Pennoyer would veto the bill a legal one because his excellency was too uncertain. However, Mr Hughes thought, that so important a measure if passed, could not possibly receive the disapproval of the governor as he could not possibly conceive of a circumstance warranting the executive vetoing the bill.

Upon motion of Colonel McCraken the Thompson resolution was passed without a dissenting voice.

The secretary was then instructed to telegraph the voice of the board to Governor Thompson, so that the matter could come up before the house committee at the noon recess and be reported as soon as possible. An official copy of the resolution was also ordered to be sent to Salem by mail

The chair further ordered, upon a popular suggestion, that the secretary immediately inform Manager Holcomb of the action of the board and also send him a copy of the Thompson resolution

Assistant Manager Cookingham said he intended to go up to Salem at once, and the president of the board suggested that aside from the committee which was appointed last week he desired that every member who could would also go to the capital and do all in his power to assist in passing the bill. No further business appearing for acting upon, the meeting adjourned

REGULAR MEETING

A regular meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening, Vice President P C Schuyler presiding

The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were read and approved

COMMUNICATIONS.

From J M McCall of Ashland calling attention to the importance of improving a road leading from Linkville via Keno to Soda Springs instead of building one to Ager, to lead trade out of the state.

On motion the communication was ordered forwarded to Hon William Ladd at Salem

From Senators Dolph and Mitchell in regard to the new signal service cable to Tatoosh Island stating that they would give the matter immediate personal attention and endeavor to secure the necessary appropriation. filed.

NEW MEMBERS

The application of Messrs. Walker & Dana and A. P Armstrong for membership having been reported favorably on, they were duly elected members of the board

Mr J H [illegible] was proposed for membership referred to committee on membership

GROCERS' NATIONAL CONVENTION

The following communication was read

ST LOUIS, Jan 31 1889

Board of Trade, Portland, Or —Gentlemen The Associated Wholesale Grocers of St. Louis, Mo., hereby invite you to send a delegate to a national convention of the representatives of commercial bodies in the United States, to be held at St. Louis February 28 1889, to formulate and present to congress an equitable bankrupt act, which will secure protection to the honest merchant, inflict punishment on the dishonest merchant and establish a uniform system for the collection, preservation and pro-rata distribution of the estates of insolvents at a minimum cost

Please pass resolutions in support of an equitable bankrupt act, and send them to the convention. If it is impracticable for you to send a delegate, please send your resolutions to the secretary, and he will appoint one of our citizens to represent you and to present your resolutions.

An early reply will greatly oblige. Yours truly,

JOSEPH W GODDARD, President

Mr Arnold said the board had been placed on record as in favor of a bankrupt act, and it would probably be advisable to take action in this matter

On motion a resolution in conformity with the above request, was adopted and ordered forwarded as directed

THE NAVAL COMMISSION

Mr Arnold said that the chairman of the special committee appointed to wait upon the naval commission, who was unable to be present, had asked him to state that the committee had attended to its duties, and had submitted to the commission a pamphlet containing the memorial of the board and the answers to the questions submitted by the commission. Adjourned.

DISPLAY OF MANUFACTURED GOODS

Immigrants With Money—Rivalry About the New Exhibit

The rooms of the immigration board were visited by an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday, and everything found running smoothly. The paper is on hand for the additional issue of the "New Empire." It is expected that 50 000 copies will be printed, and as soon as they are received the work of sending advertising matter abroad will be pushed even more vigorously than before. One week now causes marvelous changes to take place in the routine labor of the secretary and his assistants in the way of increased correspondence etc

The last two weeks a greater number of applications for improved farms have been received than ever before. For the past two months this same expression could have been aptly employed in referring to each succeeding week. A few days ago twenty three letters were received within as many hours from people looking for investments upon improved and well cultivated farms. This class of people, of course, have money and by coming here they are bringing much needed capital, which will be used for developing our resources.

The new exhibition table will soon have its display made by the manufacturers. All of the important establishments in the city and state have been solicited, and all but a few have responded

The table is 85 feet long by 2½ wide, and extends nearly the length of the room. If it is filled, one of like proportions will occupy the south side of the room. Besides the different manufactured goods, another large display of all kinds of fruit will be made, embracing the more common canned fruits. It is rumored that the Portland Iron Works will try and excel all other companies in the display. As the samples must be compassed in a frame two feet square, it must necessarily be elegant, in order to attract particular attention. This is creating a spirit of emulation which will, no doubt, result in one of the finest displays that has ever been made here

BENEATH THE SULLEN TIDE.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s Transfer Wharf Boat Sinks at Albina—Value of Cargo About $25,000

About 8 30 o'clock yesterday morning the wharf boat used in transferring East bound freight from the San Francisco steamers to the O R & N Co's cars at Albina sank while moored at the Albina incline.

A large quantity of freight came up on the steamer Oregon the past trip for St Paul consisting of sugar, liquors canned fruits etc. Some thirty carloads of this was loaded on the wharf boat as it came out of the steamship and on Sunday morning she was towed down to Albina and during the day about half the load was placed on board cars.

At about 6 o clock yesterday morning the wharf boat was visited by the night watchman and found all right. About half an hour later he heard a great snapping and crackling and on rushing out saw that she was sinking. She rested on the bottom in a sloping position, the deck on the outside being about ten feet under water and on the inside only five feet.

The watchman at once summoned a gang of men and the work of getting the submerged goods on shore was begun. There was about fifteen carloads of stuff on the boat when she went down, the greater portion of which was sugar and the value of it was about $25 000. Some of the goods, as wines and canned goods, will be but little damaged. The sugar will all be more or less wet so as to be unsaleable but a great portion of it will be saved and the whole will most likely be sent back to the refinery where it can be made over

The cause of the accident is not known for certain as yet. It seems very strange that after lying at the incline all day and half the cargo having been removed the boat should sink so suddenly. It is supposed that the swell from some passing steamer bumped the boat against the incline and sprung a butt or broke a hole in her side. A number of boats go down the river at 6 o clock, which renders this theory probable.

It has been asked why the steamship did not discharge her cargo into the cars on this side. The east bound freight is mixed up in the hold of the steamer with freight for this city and must all come out at the steamship dock. In order to load it on cars on this side it must be hauled down to Ainsworth dock. It is therefore much cheaper to place all east bound freight on the wharf boat alongside the steamship as it comes out and then tow it to Albina

The wharf boat used in transferring this freight was built and used at The Dalles and when the boats of the O. R. & N. Company were withdrawn from the middle river it was brought down over the Cascades and has been in use here ever since. It has been known for some time that her hull was becoming decayed but no immediate danger was apprehended

A GROSS MISREPRESENTATION

Some Untruthful Statements Made By the Astoria Papers Corrected

The steam schooner Michigan which went aground something over a week ago at Tansy Point, and got off uninjured and without the aid of a pilot, is the theme of numerous articles in the Astoria papers, inspired no doubt by the disgruntled pilots. Mr George L Colwell is sole owner of the Michigan. Mr J B Montgomery having no interest in the vessel either directly or indirectly

Mr Colwell stated to a reporter Saturday last, before taking the train for California that the Michigan was under the command of Captain Killman, who is also a good bar pilot. The Michigan started out across the bar shortly after the State of California had crossed out. When opposite Tansy Point a thick fog settled down around the ship so that she was compelled to cast her anchor. That night a very heavy gale blew, estimated to be at the rate of forty miles an hour in consequence of which the vessel's anchor dragged and the heel of the schooner rested on Tansy Point. She did not float off at the following half tide but within twenty four hours, at full tide floated off and put to sea having entirely escaped damage. No other pilot was taken aboard than Captain Killman, commander of the vessel. This is the whole story in a nutshell as stated by the owner Mr George L Colwell

The pilots, in their desperation are trying to throw dust in the eyes of the legislature by furnishing newspapers with certain alleged facts which are no facts at all but only common ordinary falsehoods

We were present at the joint meeting of the Portland Board of Trade and the legislative committee when it is alleged by these same pilots who have furnished the papers with other false statements that J B Montgomery half owner in the Southard and Starbuck, declared that he and his partner "did not want any pilots on board their ships." Mr Montgomery said nothing of the kind whatever. He never asserted that there should not be a pilot either on the steamer doing the towing across the bar or on the ship itself. He did say however that it was as useless as a fifth wheel to a wagon to have on ships coming up or going down the Columbia a pilot on the steamer doing the towing and another on the ship being towed. He further asserted that the tow boat should be compelled to have a licensed pilot as a commander and that then it was entirely superfluous to have a second pilot on the ship

This opinion is fully corroborated by both Captains Pope and Noyes, ship owners who have brought their own ships up and down the Columbia scores of times

FELL TWO HUNDRED FEET

A Horse and Rider Roll Down a Rugged Precipice Narrowly Escaping With Their Lives

One of the most marvelous mountain experiences on record was related yesterday by T J Handley to an OREGONIAN reporter. The gentleman accompanied by J F Ryan, bookkeeper of the Truckee Lumber Company of San Francisco started from Tillamook bay a few mornings ago on horseback. They managed to scramble up the first grade, which is noted for its steep incline to all Tillamook tourists and had descended a third of the distance on the other side when Mr Ryan's horse stumbled

Before he could recover his lost footing he dashed over the precipice with his rider. They had fallen sixty feet when Mr Ryan managed to disengage himself and grasp a projecting limb which probably saved his life. The horse rolled down 160 feet and remained there with his head doubled under him as though dead. After Mr Ryan had been rescued from his perilous position the gentlemen went to look after the horse. Finding him still alive they rolled him down twenty feet more to the bottom of the ravine. The animal being urged for some time at last regained his feet and was found to be comparatively uninjured

One place in particular on the face of the bluff would no doubt have caused the death of both horse and rider if they had stayed together and tumbled a few feet to the right. It was where a tree had fallen over the cliff and remained with the large end sticking a few feet in the air inclining directly toward the spot from where the horse started to fall. As it was the steed missed the trunk [illegible] breadth. The fortunate man and beast finished the journey with no other mishap

THEY FOUGHT WITH BARE KNUCKLES

Two Portland Hotel Runners Settle Their Differences in Eight Rounds

An insignificant quarrel between Larry Kilduff and William Cody at the steamer dock Sunday afternoon culminated in a prize fight yesterday. Larry Kilduff is driver for one of the busses of a Third-street hotel while Cody acts in the capacity of a runner for another hotel near by. The quarrel arose over the right [illegible] of their respective vehicles each claiming the same stand. The differences between the two [illegible] not be so easily adjusted so it was decided to settle the matter by the arbitrament of bare fists

Accordingly at 2 o clock yesterday afternoon the two disputants, accompanied by some twenty or thirty friends repaired to a quiet nook in the woods about five miles out on the White house road. A referee and two seconds were chosen and the bloody contest for physical supremacy commenced

One of the witnesses stated that during the first few rounds the men fought evenly. After the fourth round Kilduff seemed to be getting the worst and at the end of the eighth had to give up. Others who saw the fight state that both men fought desperately for eight rounds and then the mill was declared a draw. An excited discussion between the friends of the principals resulted in several pistols being drawn and the fight was stopped

Whichever statement may be correct one thing is certain—both men appeased their appetite for gore. Their faces were badly pummeled and they presented a general sanguinary appearance when they returned to the city

YOUNG DE RUSSEY INDICTED

James Gallagher Brings a Damage Suit for the Sum of $5000

Case of Strom—Articles of Incorporation—"Curley" Brown to Plead—Barnet Discharged—Before the Justices

The grand jury listened to the testimony of Bertie Robinson, Harvey J Adams and Bertie's physician. A true bill was speedily made out and signed indicting Jules B de Russey with assaulting murderously on the 21st of January, Miss Bertie Robinson. De Russey was seen in his cell but refused to talk

August Strom was also indicted. His offense consisted of assaulting with a knife Mr S Swartz at Third and B streets on the 10th of January

Frank M Freeland and Frank Bairnford were discharged. They had each been charged with the larceny of minor articles.

A VALUABLE TOE

James Gallagher brings action against H [illegible] & Co. He claims that on the 30th of October 1888 one of the trucks of the defendants, driven by one Charles Turner, was backed up against Gallagher crushing his right foot, necessitating the amputation of his great toe, and incapacitating him from following his vocation, for which he claims damages in the sum of $5000

GARNISHMENT ACTION

The Rosenfeld Smith Company brought action in state circuit court No 1 yesterday against Frank M D Witt for $[illegible]. The complaint alleges that a settlement was had on February 8 by which this amount was agreed upon as a balance due to him to the firm. A garnishment was subsequently taken out and served by Sheriff Kelly upon Mr Otaoli DeWitt at 333 F street, mother of the defendant

WILL NOT AFFECT THE BREAD

The Oregon German Bakery Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The incorporators are Theodore Leite, George C Sears, B F McCauley and C C Staple, and the capital stock $1,000

"CURLY" TO PLEAD TO-DAY

Curly Brown was arraigned in court yesterday morning but was allowed until to-day to plead to the charge of gambling, for which he was indicted by the grand jury

THE PERJURY CASES

In Judge Stearns's court yesterday afternoon Ah Fook, Ah Lee and Yung Cat indicted for perjury, pleaded not guilty but owing to the absence of the district attorney their cases were not set for trial

SUIT AGAINST AGNES WOODWARD

Schofield & Morgan yesterday instituted action in Justice Tuttle's court against Agnes Woodward, now awaiting trial in the county jail on a charge of murdering Frank Cunningham. This suit is brought to satisfy a claim of $10 for painting and paper hanging

DRUNKS AND MINOR CASES

Judge Tanner disposed of the following cases in the police court yesterday afternoon: Gus Johnson and Mike Schlosser, simple drunks, fined $5 each; Tom Murray, same, $5; Della Martin, soliciting prostitution, $20; James Shehan, trespass, forfeited $10 bail; Joe Waddell, violating the ordinance prohibiting ashes being thrown in the streets, $10; J B Lee, using abusive language to J W Kelly, $20; Louis Jacobs, charged with stealing some blankets from the Columbia hotel and some minor articles from the International, had hearing in his case continued until this afternoon

IN FREEMAN'S COURT

The complaint in the case of the state vs. Anton Grosdchir was filed yesterday

The case of the state vs. B[illegible] came up for hearing yesterday at 3 P. M. at which time the defendant was held to answer to the charge of perjury in the sum of $[illegible] before the grand jury. It seems that the defendant, who was summoned as a witness during the trial of James Collins, testified that he (Collins) struck Joseph Kelly on the 10th of February 1889. This statement is supposed to have been known by him to be false at the time he uttered it

The state vs. Martin Caufield was dismissed on the defendant paying costs. It was claimed that Caufield assaulted his brother-in-law Thomas Keefe on the 11th inst.

NEW RECORD BOOKS

Necessity for Co-operation With the County Superintendent on the Part of the Officers of the Country School Districts

County Superintendent W A Wetzell has issued the following circular to the school directors and clerks of the county

PORTLAND Feb 11

To School Directors and Clerks District N—: Gentlemen—I have handed or sent to your clerk's record book, which you will find most convenient in keeping records of meetings, finances of district, clerk's annual reports etc. You will also find in this book blanks for teachers' contracts, blanks for notice of school meetings, receipts for school warrants and receipts for supplies from school superintendent. The book is calculated to last two years. I call your attention to the following

1. The law requires that the census sheets shall contain the names of all persons in your district over 4 and under 20 years of age. This is done to prevent double enumeration. The fact that the boundaries of many districts are unknown renders the accurate taking of the school census very difficult. Therefore let me caution you to be very careful in this matter

2. Please send in your reports promptly. Give all the information required and be sure that it is accurate

3. Please send me immediately after the annual meeting, an exact list of the school officers with their addresses

4. It will be a great accommodation to me if your clerk will notify me of the opening and closing of your school and will send me the name of your teacher so soon as employed. Many times I would visit a school if I knew it to be in session but since I have not such knowledge I must take long journeys and many times to find the school house locked

I have issued several circular letters to school officers and to some I have received no reply. Let me ask you in kindness to always reply to any question I shall ask you relating to your school. I want to help you to advance your school and the cause of education

5. I will hold a teachers' institute in Portland beginning Thursday night, the 21st of this month which will continue until Saturday noon. All the teachers of the county are required by law to attend this meeting. The directors are also required to allow teachers time for such attendance without loss of salary. I have so arranged for this meeting that but one day will be lost from actual school work, and this day is a legal holiday being Washington's birthday. I refer you to section 1, subdivision 21 of the school law. The meeting on Thursday night will be a grand educational mass meeting. An address of welcome will be delivered by Miss E C Sabin, superintendent city schools, Portland, which will be followed by short addresses by leading citizens. The exercises will be interspersed with excellent music

I beg of you to encourage your teachers to attend this meeting and to attend yourselves. Let us make this convention the beginning of a new era in the county schools of Multnomah county. Yours respectfully,

W A WETZELL

County School Superintendent

TILLAMOOK AND ITS ADVANTAGES

Waiting To Be Developed—Another Chance in the Wheel of Fortune

Through the courtesy of a gentleman largely interested in Tillamook bay and the surrounding country an OREGONIAN reporter was enabled, yesterday afternoon to gain some important information respecting that part of Oregon. The gentleman said

"Wilson river with its tributaries is flowing through a strip of country literally glistening with gold, and the only requisite conditions for bringing it to the surface, or to make it visible, are industrious and willing hands, coupled with an intelligent understanding of the opportunities in order to give a proper rivalry and impetus to business

From the seaboard for a distance of twenty five miles up the river settlements have already become quite numerous and houses with small patches of cleared and cultivated land are even visible upon the benches or plateaus, extending in some places high up the sides of the foothills. A bill is now pending in the legislature for a sufficient appropriation to construct a road through the country bordering on the Wilson river. If it succeeds in becoming a law, there will be opened up a tract of land very fertile and capable of rendering the richest returns. The possibilities of an extensive manufacturing district are quite evident, for the water power is said to be excellent, and if properly utilized, the imaginations of the most enthusiastic might possibly be realized

According to an old inhabitant the population has more than doubled within the past two years. Although there is ample territory for making a modest farming district yet the people there have, on account of their vocations, a peculiar advantage over their rustic neighbors in not being compelled to wait for a harvest only once or it may be twice a year but have a continuous reaping the year around. The pursuits are principally, and one might say solely, dairying, lumbering and fishing. Those three branches are conducted with the utmost energy and successfully too, as many consumers in the interior can readily testify

A VERY STRANGE STORY.

A Gentleman Explains the Real Cause of the Recent Indian Troubles at Mono Lake, Cal

A few days since a San Francisco dispatch stated that Indians in Mono county California had killed a settler and threatened [illegible] and that trouble was feared at [illegible] Waterman and been asked to send troops there

A gentleman who has resided for several years in Mono county in [illegible] vicinity of Mono lake has lately arrived here and gives an account of the origin of the trouble with the Indians [illegible] of the old settlers of this state that every outbreak of the Indians has [illegible] outrages they have suffered at the hands of the whites

[illegible] The waters of the lake [illegible] the only animal life found in it is a sort of a worm, about one-tenth of an inch in length, resembling in appearance a shrimp. This worm is of an oily nature and forms when blown on the shore by the winds by combining with the alkaline water a soapy mixture, and frequently a bank of this soap suds several feet in depth is deposited along the shore of the lake

The [illegible] Indians who live in the country around Mono lake are very fond of these worms [illegible]

[illegible]

He actually would kill a Piute and cast the body into the alkaline waters of the lake where it would soon petrify. This fact was well known to the whites residing in that section, and the gentleman who gives this information says he has seen four of these bodies calmly reposing at the bottom of the lake. Sammann's avowed intention was to use the bodies as soon as they became sufficiently hardened for hitching post and door steps

The Indians however were ignorant of Sammann's eccentricity [illegible] had only heard unconfirmed stories of it. A few days before the killing above mentioned a party of Piutes were fishing for kitchavie, scooping them off the surface of the water with willow baskets. In the vicinity of Sammann's place they saw the bodies of their petrified brethren lying on the gravelly bottom

Then the stories they had heard were confirmed. They became frenzied for revenge and going to Sammann's cabin took him out (he was then ill) and shot him through the heart, carried the body to the cabin, laid it on the bed and to make sure that he was dead fired another shot through his brain. They then went several miles to a place where four Italians were and killed three of them, one escaping to Bodie and alarming the citizens, telling them at the same time not to go out there for a few days as the Indians had sworn to kill any white man that came out. However Dr Walker, the county physician and C A Schuman an attorney, went out the same evening in hopes that the men were only wounded and that their aid might save their lives. They returned in safety, but advised the people to keep away as the Indians were very much excited and eager to avenge the death of the petrified Piutes. A request was made on Governor Waterman for arms and ammunition and he offered to send troops but the offer was declined. The request for arms and ammunition has since been countermanded and things have quieted down considerably but still the vigilance of the people has not relaxed. An effort to arrest the guilty Indians will shortly be made

THE GEORGIAS SCORE A SUCCESS

Minstrelsy Still Popular—A Crowded House—An Excellent Combination and Programme

Richards & Pringle's minstrels were greeted at the New Park last night by the largest audience which has filled the house for a long time and one whose cheers and applause were enough to wake the echoes for blocks around

The curtain rose upon an admirably arranged first part which introduced new and pleasing features of that branch of minstrelsy. Billy Kersands amply sustained his reputation in the front rank of colored minstrels, his specialties being heartily encored. The Mallory Brothers proved an excellent feature

Howard and [illegible] was applauded as new [illegible] always are. The Crescent City quartette was stormily applauded and twice called back. Mr Huff's wonderful work [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr Frank Mell[illegible] his own manipulation of the baton was exceedingly clever

The closing number, [illegible] Club abounded with new and laughable specialties particularly those of George Jackson as [illegible] Bruce.

The minstrels again to-night

Is better than any soap; handier, finer, more effective, more for the money, and in the form of a powder for your convenience. Takes, as it were, the fabric in one hand, the dirt in the other, and lays them apart—comparatively speaking, washing with little work. As it saves the worst of the work, so it saves the worst of the wear. It isn't the use of clothes that makes them old before their time, it is rubbing and straining, getting the dirt out by main strength. For scrubbing, house-cleaning, washing dishes, windows and glassware, Pearline has no equal.

Over One Million Families Use it.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—they are not and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled but sold by all good grocers. Manufactured only by JAMES PYLE New York.
